Parents group calls for Franklin dismissal

West Brooklyn shaken by train derailment

WEST BROOKLYN—A Burlington Northern train, hauling stoker coal, derailed in West Brooklyn shortly before noon Monday, damaging land and a building, but injuring no one.

The wheels on the second car of the train went off the rails nearly a mile east of West Brooklyn, but the train proceeded into the town, dragging the car. As the train passed West Brooklyn Co-Op, two pulling engines and the first car separated and the following cars began to pile up.

Witnesses in West Brooklyn were able to hear that something was amiss as the train approached town. Joan Schmidt, rural Amboy, and Betty Kaiser, Paw Paw, were in the office of the farmer's Co-op during the incident.

"We could feel the building shaking," Schmidt related. "You could tell something was wrong." "We saw a large truck pull up to the crossing as the train approached, and then back off."

West Brooklyn Co-op manager Carey White was returning from a trip to Mendota with Bob Chaon, rural Mendota, as the train derailed in front of their truck.

"A lot of debris was flying from underneath the train as it went by," White said. "There was a hot box and the wheels were smoking."

Just after the train crossed the road crossing at the center of the village, several cars went off the track and dumped coal along the side of the tracks. Besides a lawn covered with coal, Barney Jones found his garage was pushed off its foundation by falling coal from the railroad car.

The coal a routine daily shipment to the Northwestern Steel and Wire plant in Sterling. Hulsher's Emergency Service, Mendota, was called to the scene and began removing the wreckage within three hours of the derailment.

$300 million in missile funding sought by Ford

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford is expected to ask Congress soon for about $300 million to produce 60 additional long-range Minuteman missiles and speed procurement of a new and bigger nuclear warhead.

The move is prompted by the continuing deadlock in U.S.-Soviet nuclear arms limitation negotiations and the steady growth of Russian missile power, Pentagon sources say.

Announcement of Ford's new request may also be calculated to help the President in the May 1 Texas primary, where some political analysts believe he may be running behind challenger Ronald Reagan. However, administration spokesmen are expected to disclaim any political intent.

A Ford request to keep open the Minuteman III intercontinental ballistic missile production line would be a reversal of an earlier decision to shut down Minuteman production. This shut-down decision was reflected in Ford's defense budget for the coming fiscal year.

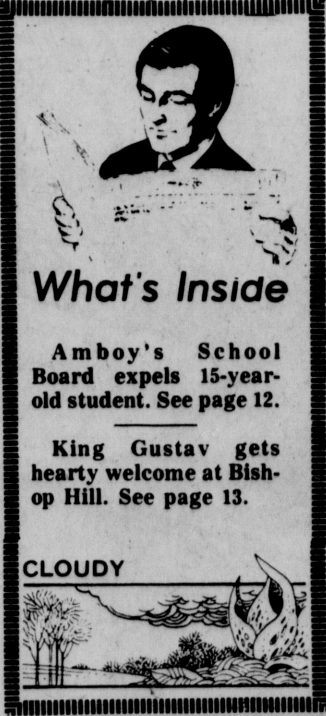

The recommendation sent by the Pentagon to the White House budget office weeks ago called for $266 million to produce the 60 missiles.

At present, the United States has 1,000 Minuteman missiles in firing position, including 550 Minuteman IIIs, each armed with three warheads, and 450 earlier Minuteman IIs, which mount single warheads.

Under the Pentagon's proposal, the number of land-based Minuteman missiles in launch silos would not be increased, officials said, but the "mix" probably would be changed to increase the number of multiple-warhead Minuteman IIIs and lower the number of Minuteman IIs.

Also included in the package is $56 million to begin production of a bigger warhead for the Minuteman III in 1977, a year earlier than had been planned. The new Mark 12A warhead would have the blast power of about 400,000 tons of TNT, twice that of present Minuteman III warheads. This would give the Minuteman greater ability to knock out heavily protected targets such as underground Soviet missile bases, command posts and industrial plants.

CLOUDY

By LENNY INGRASSIA

A newly organized Dixon School Board was hit Tuesday night with a recommendation from a parents group calling for the dismissal of Richard Franklin as head basketball coach.

"It's not easy to ask but we feel it must be done," said State's Atty. Patrick E. Ward, retained by the group as their spokesman. "I want to stress this is not an attack on his personal integrity," Ward told the board and a gathering of 40 parents and teachers attending the meeting.

The recommendation came moments before the election of Jerald Conroy as president of the board and M. Charles Willey as secretary. Conroy, the previous secretary, replaces James Dixon, two-term board member who chose not to seek re-election.

Conroy, Willey and Jane Marshall, successful candidates for re-election, were given the oath of office along with new board members Judith Magdich and David Emery.

The recommendation to dismiss Franklin met with opposition from several in attendance. Chuck Vail, athletic director, praised Franklin's abilities. "I think you are unjustly criticizing one of the strongest people on my staff—he is highly respected in the area and has a winning record here—I've never heard him run anyone down," said Vail in response to the group's charges.

Eleven families are spearheading the move to replace Franklin, citing 10 reasons for their action.

Those charges include players no longer having confidence in him, a claim which was refuted later in the meeting by a former DHS basketball player, Ron Smith, who called on the board to get student views on Franklin "... he taught me a lot... look at his record."

The parents group further accused Franklin of being inconsiderate of the boys who did not make this year's tournament squad; of not keeping up-to-date; showing little interest in extra class activities at the high school; not staying with a successful strategy in a game; not telling players what is wrong or how to correct a mistake after removing him from a game; being a very emotional person; of having a less-effective relationship with his players than he once enjoyed; the boys do not enjoy playing basketball and Franklin seldom praises his players.

Richard McCarthy, Dixon Teachers Association president, referring to a board policy manual, stated any recommendation considering personnel should come from the school principal and not from a group of parents.

Conroy said the board will take the recommendation under study.

Franklin was not at the meeting. Parents involved in the move to unseat Franklin are the families of Ed Evett, Walter Lohse, Paul Nusbaum, Robert Donegan, Arnold Spangler, John Howell, Richard Bollman, Delbert Deatherage, Maurice Swinton, Richard Anderson and Jerome Brady.

Before the changeover in officers was made, Conroy presented Dixon a plaque of appreciation and praised his efforts in serving on the board for the past six years.

Conroy cited a series of "firsts" which Dixon participated in during his term of office including the passage of an 85-cent tax referendum at a time when similar tax increases in the state were rejected. The new president also cited two lawsuits brought against the board; one involving former board member Judith Willard, ruled in conflict of interest with her husband, a DHS teacher, and a pending lawsuit against the board citing a violation of the Open Meeting Act in setting administrative salaries in closed session. Conroy said both of these suits were "firsts" in the state and both have great interest to all school boards.

Conroy's first appointments included Jane Marshall to the Northwest Division, Illinois School Board Association steering committee, and the reappointment of Dr. Gary Burg to the Lee County Special Education Association. Willey and Donald Sofolo were appointed chairman and assistant chairman, respectively, on the board negotiating team.

The resignation of Merrill Hughes as assistant superintendent, instruction, was accepted by the board. Hughes announced on Wednesday his appointment as superintendent of the River Bend School District at Fulton.

Board approval was given to submit to the Illinois Office of Education a grant request of $7,882 for the gifted program for the 1976-77 school year.

The board voted to postpone scheduled painting at buildings throughout the district and roof repairs at Jefferson School until summer 1977. The action was taken to hold down expenses in light of the lateness of tax monies to be received this year.

Judge Lenz makes ruling . . .

Rochelle referendum loses by three votes

OREGON— Circuit Judge Lawrence Lenz ruled this morning the Rochelle overpass referendum failed by three votes.

Lenz was asked to rule on 28 ballots ruled spoiled in a second counting of the votes last week.

The $1.6-million referendum to help build a four-lane overpass over the busy railroad tracks in the center of Rochelle was voted on March 16. When ballots were first counted, the project failed by five votes. Due to the closeness of the vote a recount was demanded by forces in favor of the overpass.

Last week two recount judges were appointed by Lenz to recount the ballots. Under scrutiny of three attorneys, representing the city, people for the overpass and people against it, the recount judges found the measure remained defeated by the same margin of five votes. However, the recount judges ruled 104 ballots spoiled, 46 more spoiled votes than originally recorded.

Of the 104 spoiled votes, attorneys challenged 28, which Judge Lenz ruled on today.

Lenz found 14 of the questioned ballots were valid and the remaining half should not be counted. Of the 14 contested ballots Lenz accepted, seven were "no" votes and six "yes."

Four other votes, counted in the first and second balloting, were disallowed by Judge Lenz, on the grounds the recount judge had not initiated them. Of those four votes, three were in favor of the overpass.

Two ballots which had not been initiated by judges on election day were earlier disallowed.

The final count went 1,317 votes against and 1,314 votes for, a net difference of three ballots or 50.1 per cent of the votes against the overpass.

"The matter is out of the hands of the city council now," Mayor Bill Cipolla said following the Lenz verdict. "The only way for any further action on the overpass would be for people to petition the council for another election."

Lenz commented it would be illegal to hold the referendum again within 23 months for the four-lane overpass.

Russell Burns, DeKalb lawyer representing a group in favor of the overpass, stated "Our group has no plans to pursue the matter further."

Robert Canfield represented "no" voters and Phil Nye Jr. was also on hand in behalf of the city of Rochelle.

The lawyers argued a point of what constitutes a valid vote, in front of Judge Lenz today. Rulings from the Supreme Court state only a cross, inside a designated box, and not a checkmark could be allowed. Writing "yes" or "no" is also illegal.

the lawyers determined.

Cipolla said if the vote outcome had been reversed in favor of the overpass, he would have asked for another vote.

Lenz told those present at the hearing "The vote was so close that a recount was necessary." He felt that because the referendum lost the numbers were insignificant. Lenz also commended the work of the election and recount judges.

Small increase in consumer prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — Falling prices at the gasoline pump and the third big monthly drop in grocery costs held the rise in consumer prices to two-tenths of a per cent in March, the government said today.

The March increase compared with February's consumer price rise of one-tenth of a per cent and an increase of four-tenths of a per cent in January. The January-to-March figures left consumers with the lowest three-month inflation rate in almost four years.

The Labor Department said the increase or the three months ending in March — a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 2.9 per cent — was the smallest three-month increase since June 1972. It compared with an average increase of about 7 per cent for each calendar quarter in 1975.

Lower beef prices led the decline at grocery counters where prices fell another 1.2 per cent in March. Grocery prices fell 1.5 per cent in February after a decline of four-tenths of a per cent in January.

Gasoline prices fell 1.3 per cent instead of moving up as they usually do in March.

The cut in the nation's inflation rate has exceeded even the most optimistic projections, but the Ford administration had cautioned that the declines in food and fuel are not likely to be sustained.

Rubber workers on strike

CLEVELAND (AP) — The United Rubber Workers struck the rubber industry's Big Four nationwide today despite a last-minute Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. offer that included an unlimited cost-of-living adjustment.

The relatively calm strike was marred when firebombs were thrown at a Marysville, Ohio, plant. No injury was reported in the incident at the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. facility. Plant manager Gary Cornary said the firebombs, confirmed by a sheriff's deputy, ignited blazes outside the plant's fenced entrance and near the gatehouse inside the fence.

Master contracts that expired at midnight with Firestone, Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., B.F. Goodrich Co. and Uniroyal Inc. covered about 60,000 of the URW's 190,000 members.

Peter Bommarito, URW international president, said Firestone's proposed total hourly wage increase of $1.15 over three years, 60 cents of it in the first year, "is short on what we need for a cost-of-living wage catchup for 1976 alone."

Maynard Comiez, acting chief economist for the Commerce Department, said in an interview before the price report was issued that food and gasoline prices were beginning to climb higher.

The strike, the second nationwide shutdown in U.S. industry within a month, was expected to have little immediate effect outside the Big Four. Auto makers said they had stockpiled enough tires to last up to four weeks, depending on the type of car and the rate of production.

Help for Reagan

How can the people get a thoughtful, good character in the White House? Toward the end of March Ronald Reagan gave a talk on TV. At the end an announcer suggested that those in favor of Ronald Reagan could help his nomination to run for President of the United States by sending a contribution.

I do not know what per cent of the citizens did. A few I talked to said they intended to, but forgot. Some said what they could give was not enough to help much.

Suppose one million people sent in just one dollar a month until election. In six or seven months it adds up.

Again, one would think at least there are 10 million who would be glad to give this amount.

Let's start the necessary money rolling in by each one in this area who wants Ronald Reagan nominated for President to send in today a dollar, or a check for what you desire. Mark your calendar for the first of each month and then you will not forget. Mail to: Ronald Reagan Campaign, Suite 812, 10960 Wilshire Blvd., Los Angeles, Calif. 90024.

Malpractice litigation dilemma facing doctors

By ROBERT H. NELLIS

The malpractice litigation problem facing doctors today demands solutions involving action by physicians, hospitals, attorneys, judges, legislators, insurance companies, state agencies and the general public, chronicles a statement approved by the Task Force on Professional Liability sponsored by the Illinois State Medical Society.

There is no single cure for the "malpractice dilemma," according to task force writers, and the statement calls for judges and juries to be provided with guidelines for determining damage awards.

Juries fail to give consideration to the relationship between large pay-outs by insurers and higher costs for medical costs, and under the present jury system there is no equality in awards for identical injuries, complains and comments the report.

Ways must be found to control the filing of "frivolous" claims which cost physicians and hospital thousands of dollars and clog up court calendars and delay the action on valid claims.

Rules need to be established and enforced which deter plaintiff attorneys from pursuing cases which have no merit, the doctors' statement affirms, and observes physicians and hospitals unjustly accused of malpractice must have an opportunity to countersue the plaintiff.

Steps need to be taken to ensure the patient who is a victim of an actual malpractice receives a large enough share of the damages awarded by the court, counsels the statement, noting costs of litigation can account for as much as half of an award.

A need exists for more lawyers to become qualified to defend doctors sued for malpractice, the statement maintains.

Insurance companies should be coming from "frivolous" claims, the task force says and notes the practice of offering huge amounts under "umbrella" coverages has "created a veritable pot of gold for plaintiffs and their attorneys to pursue."

Insurance claims should be examined and the information obtained be used to educate physicians where the danger of malpractice suits is greatest, declares the task force statement.

Legislation is needed modifying present laws concerning suits for damages "radical" enough to draw a constitutional test to clarify sufficient causes for filing malpractice charges against physicians, the doctors claim.

Turning inward on the medical profession, the task force asserts, "Doctors must clean their own house. Stringent peer review must be accomplished routinely with procedures designed to deny privileges, membership or even licensure, if necessary."

The public must be made to realize medicine is an inexact science and that no guarantees of successful treatment exist, the state medical group's report declares.

"Patients must be urged to ask questions of their physicians before undergoing any treatment or surgical procedure," stresses the report statement.

The state society has announced the organization of a physician-owned insurance company in response to skyrocketing malpractice premiums, but declares no significant reduction of costs can be expected until "comprehensive solutions are worked out for the entire scope of the problem."

Solzhenitsyn a prophet?

By DON OAKLEY

The United States is not the only democracy to have been admonished by Alexander Solzhenitsyn, that latter-day Jeremiah passionately warning against the snares of detente.

The exiled Russian writer, who now lives in Switzerland, took the British to task in a recent lecture over BBC radio, and many were the sins and shortcomings he detailed.

Not only did Britain, and all of Western Europe, countenance the enslavement of millions of their fellow Europeans by Soviet Communism after World War II, "whenever a new tyranny came into existence, however far away—in China, say, or Laos—Britain was always the first to recognize it, eagerly pushing aside all competitors for the honor."

Tank columns rolled in East Berlin, Budapest and Prague, but not once did the British government recall its ambassadors in protest from any of these places.

"But when five terrorists—who had actually committed murder—were executed in Madrid, then the British ambassador was recalled and the din reverberated throughout the world. What a hurricane burst forth from the British Isles!"

And what of Europe today? asked Solzhenitsyn. "It is nothing more than a collection of cardboard stage sets, all bargaining with each other to see how little can be spent on defense so as to leave more for the comforts of life."

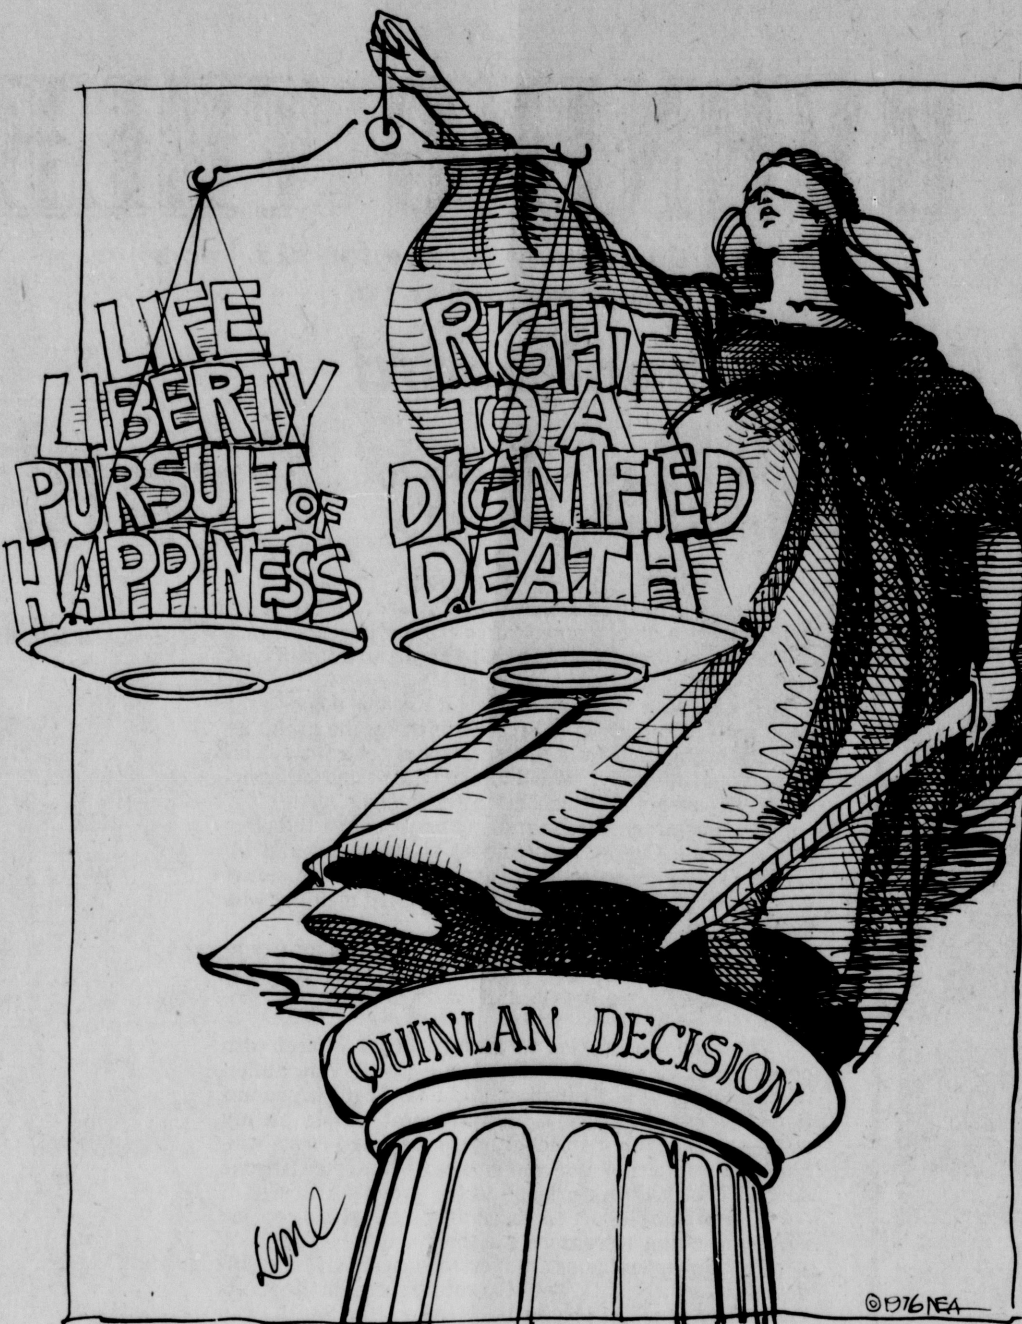

Europe, he says, has of its own accord abandoned not only its strength and influence in world affairs but its intellectual influence as well. "Modern society is hypnotized by socialism. It is prevented by socialism from seeing the mortal dangers it is in."

"And one of the greatest dangers of all is that you have lost all sense of danger, you cannot even see where it's coming from as it moves swiftly toward you."

"But the greatest danger of all is that you have lost the will to defend yourselves."

Solzhenitsyn expressed little hope that the West would heed the warning voices of the oppressed peoples of Eastern Europe. "Experience," he acknowledged sadly, "cannot be transmitted. Everyone must experience everything for himself."

In that respect, Solzhenitsyn may be less akin to the Biblical Jeremiah than to the Greek prophetess Cassandra, who carried the curse of never being believed.

Balancing the scales.

Angola's new battles

LUANDA (LENS)—The new government in Angola is already coming under criticism at home. And to add to its discomfiture its capital, Luanda, is being swept by a wave of banditry.

The mouthpiece of the government's critics is an underground tabloid calling itself Newspaper of the Worker. It accuses the Popular Movement government of selling out both to the Russians (because it accepted Soviet military aid) and to the Americans (because it has asked Gulf Oil Corp. to resume oil production in Cabinda). The paper also attacks the Cubans in Angola as "the new colonizers."

The critics say that China should be the model for Angola. They have a fine line in egalitarian rhetoric: "Why do the people have to queue for bread while those in the government palace eat caviar?" Whether there is any connection is not clear, but there has been an outbreak of sporadic shooting at night; cars are being stopped and their occupants robbed, sometimes at gunpoint, by men in uniform.

Some of the Popular Movement's leaders claim that the dissidents are supported by the CIA. But other people suspect that the attackers have got the backing of a splinter group of the Popular Movement. This group, Active Revolt, first opposed Agostino Neto's leadership in 1974, and has not cooperated with the Popular Movement since it became the government. It has a strong following in the university and among those who are loosely known as the movement's intellectuals.

The real activists of the anti-Popular Movement campaign are thought to be young Angolans and Portuguese under the influence of two far-left Portuguese parties, the Portuguese Democratic Union and the Revolutionary Movement of the Portuguese Proletariat. The links with the latter appear to worry the Popular Movement more, because it is a Maoist organization and there are some Maoists in the Popular Movement. President Neto says: "Consciously or not, there are agents of imperialism even within our movement. They praise a socialist country which never helped us during the war. They praise China... Those who persist are traitors."

The last thing Angola needs now is political battle. There are too many major problems to be solved. The withdrawal of the last South African soldiers from southern Angola ended one of them. But the reconstruction of the country still awaits attention.

50 YEARS AGO

Dixon will observe the annual "Clean-Up Week" this year as in the past several springs, with a strenuous ten day campaign of rubbish hunting. The commissioner presented the proposition to the city council at its regular weekly session last evening and was accorded the unanimous support of that body in the carrying on of such a campaign. A ten day period, commencing next Monday morning at 6 o'clock, has been arranged for the "Clean-Up" campaign. Local civic bodies will also be asked to join in the clean-up campaign.

In the neighborhood of 20 members of the Sterling K. of C. motored to Dixon Monday evening and engaged in a pinochle tournament with the Dixon lodge. The Sterling players won the tournament. Following the tournament a fine lunch was served.

Robert E. Lee: a man of true greatness

By HENRY J. TAYLOR

On April 21, 1861, Col. Robert E. Lee resigned his commission—signed by President Lincoln—in the 1st U.S. Cavalry.

The quickened awareness that a life has been nobly wrought adds a dimension to the lives of all of us and as we celebrate our 200th anniversary it is the soul of Lee—his spiritual nature, his compassion, patience, charity—that lights his place in our nation's history.

Lee's honors have turned many times into marble and bronze. Go to Dallas. See A. Phimister Proctor's magnificent statue of Lee mounted on his famous horse, "Traveller." You will find etched on the granite containing wall: "No calumny can ever darken his fame, for history has lighted up his image with her everlasting lamp."

Lee was born at Stratford, Westmoreland County, Va., Jan. 19, 1807. He grew up steeped in the American Revolution; much closer to the environment of George Washington than we may recall.

His father ("Light Horse Harry") Lee was Washington's neighbor and intimate friend and fought with great heroism under Washington's command. In fact, he was chosen to deliver the funeral oration when Washington died and in it coined the undying "First in war, first in peace and first in the hearts of his countrymen."

Lee graduated at West Point, the class of 1829. There, where he later became superintendent, he received not a single demerit during his four years. His graduation year marks averaged an amazing 98.33 per cent in all studies—this student that English historian Lord Acton later called "the greatest general the world has ever seen."

However, within two years the shrinking United States Army fell to only 6,055 officers and enlisted men—the lowest number it was ever to reach. It took 17 years for Lee to rise from lieutenant to a command rank and he did not directly command troops until he was 39.

Lee served on the Texas border in 1860 and in February, 1861, was summoned to serve against the Southern rebellion: Jefferson Davis, who had been with Lee at West Point, was inaugurated President of the Confederacy at Mobile, Ala., Feb. 18, 1861.

There is no such thing as a simple moral problem. If it is simple there is no problem. And Lee faced the moral crisis of his life.

He knew Washington's principles well. He regarded the Union as a great possession but only as long as it was a free association of states. Could the kind of act of separation that was justified in 1776 be wrong in 1861? And as for slavery, Lee abhorred it and, like many Virginians, had liberated his slaves. But he profoundly questioned the attempt to eradicate slavery by force.

Lee made the answer which historians agree he was born to make.

The War Between the States added a new and untried dimension to the ancient principles of war. It was the first war ever fought with the use of railroads and the telegraph. Lee made it a classic, still reviewed in the General Staff schools of the world, by the way he immediately revised war's fundamentals to this new opportunity.

Lincoln had appointed and fired five commanders before he finally found Hiram Grant, for that was Ulysses S. Grant's correct name. It was Lee's leadership, and Lee's alone, that held the South together in the awful four years of war suffered by its millions but on April 9, 1865, General in Chief of the Armies of the Confederate States Robert E. Lee handed his sword to Lt. Gen. Grant at Appomattox.

Lee died at Lexington, Va., Oct. 12, 1870, age 63. He is buried there in the Lee Memorial Chapel. Inside, the Valentine recumbent Lee, in marble, is inspiring. Outside, the ladies of the Garden Clubs of Virginia have provided, in great beauty, a lovely garden just as they have restored the garden of Lee's boyhood at Stratford Hall.

Great men are a small family on our earth and Robert E. Lee was one of them.

Young adults are where the $$ is

The maker of a baby shampoo touts its product for adult use... A baby food company test-markets foods to appeal to older people... Blue jeans are cut fuller to accommodate the mature male figure...

These and other developments are cited by Industry Week magazine as evidence that the youth craze that dominated U.S. society for many years is ending. The babies of the 1950s and the hippies of the 1960s are growing older and the "action" during the next 15 years will more and more be in the young adult market.

A look at demographic projections bears this out.

In the 15 years between 1960 and 1975, the 15-to-29-year-old group in the U.S. population grew by 22.2 million people. But in the 15 years from 1975 to 1990, this group will decline by 2.6 million. At the same time, the number of people in the 30-to-45-year-old group will increase by 21.7 million, after having declined 0.3 million in the 1960-75 period.

Of all age groups, this older but still comparatively young group will show the greatest growth and will make up the largest segment of the economy. Thus businessmen are devoting intense study to try to determine just what kind of consumer animal members of this group will be.

For one thing, while they will become somewhat more conservative as they grow older, their values and attitudes will remain different from those of previous generations, a number of experts consulted by Industry Week agree. If there is a strong strain of anti-materialism, it is also coupled with a taste for luxuries, for quality and leisure.

This is reflected in a changing pattern of expenditures. A young man may turn down what excited his parents—a large car, for example. But he still spends money on expensive things—maybe motorcycles or long skiing vacations. He's still spending money, but on new things.

"The previous generation lived to work; this one works to live," says Ohio State University marketing professor Roger D. Blackwell.

But there will likely be working frustrations for this group as well, thinks another expert. Instead of finding automatic job promotion possibilities, there will be more competition simply because of this group's sheer volume.

"You have a group of people in large numbers who will be replacing a group in small numbers, and the new group is generally better educated," says George H. Brown of the Conference board, a New York-based business research organization.

Where have all the flower children gone? No one is quite sure, but they're on their way.

"Of course it has brakes! Hop in and enjoy the ride!"

Free press-fair trial issue argued before high court

WASHINGTON (AP) — "What is the difference between everybody else in the courtroom going out and talking about what happened in the hearing and the press reporting it?" asked Justice Thurgood Marshall.

"The difference," replied Nebraska assistant Atty. Gen. Harold Mosher, "is one of degree."

The exchange was one of dozens between the nine members of the Supreme Court and four lawyers who argued before them Monday on the power of judges to restrict news coverage of criminal cases.

The court is expected to decide the question within a few weeks.

Before the court is a judge's order that prevented newsmen from reporting most of the evidence at a preliminary hearing last October in a Nebraska mass-murder case. The hearing was open to the public.

The order was one of an increasing number being issued by judges to curtail publicity, which they contend could make it impossible to obtain an impartial jury.

E. Barrett Prettyman Jr., a Washington lawyer representing news media challenging the Nebraska order, said such orders are ineffective and an unconstitutional prior restraint on publications.

"I would be here making this argument even if prior restraints worked," said Prettyman. "They don't work. They result in rumor, gossip and speculation, which is far more dangerous to the defendant than factual reporting in newspapers."

County Attorney Milton R. Larson of Lincoln County, Neb., who successfully prosecuted Erwin Charles Simants for the October slayings, said, "I think if Mrs. Jones tells me something I am going to find it easier to put that aside than if I read in the newspaper that the evidence at a preliminary hearing showed it to be so."

Prettyman, asked by Chief Justice Warren E. Burger if he would take the same position if the judge told lawyers not to talk rather than newspapers not to publish, said an order that would be impermissible if directed at the press might be permissible if framed in a way to restrict out-of-court statements by attorneys.

Floyd Abrams, representing numerous media organizations that supported Nebraska news outlets in the case, said prior restraint on the press was "becoming commonplace and must be curbed. The power to levy prior restraints on news reporting is the power to destroy."

High levels of DDT found in some mother's milk

CHICAGO (AP) — Even though the use of DDT has been banned, Tennessee medical researchers have found high levels of the pesticide in the milk of poor Southern black women.

The mothers' milk contained DDT concentrations nearly 10 times greater than the World Health Organization limit for cow's milk, the researchers report in the April issue of the American Journal of Diseases of Children, published by the American Medical Association.

The researchers are Bennie T. Woodard of Meharry Medical College and Drs. Bruce B. Ferguson and David J. Wilson of Vanderbilt University.

They sampled the milk of 38 black women in poverty areas of Bolivar County, Miss., and Lee County, Ark., and compared it with that of 14 white, urban, middle-class women living in metropolitan Nashville in April 1974.

The use of DDT was banned by the federal government beginning Jan. 1, 1973.

The researchers point out that there are no known cases in which infants have suffered damage from consuming DDT in milk.

DDT is stored in human fat tissue and its effects on human health have not been determined yet by scientists. But it has been found to increase the death rate of newborn rats nursing milk contaminated with it.

Among the black women, DDT concentrations averaged 447 parts per billion, with a range of 59 to 1,900. Among the white women, the average was 75 parts, with a range of 25 to 133.

"The difference in the DDT concentrations in the two populations indicates that rural low-income blacks are still highly contaminated with pesticides, even though the general use of DDT has been banned," the researchers wrote.

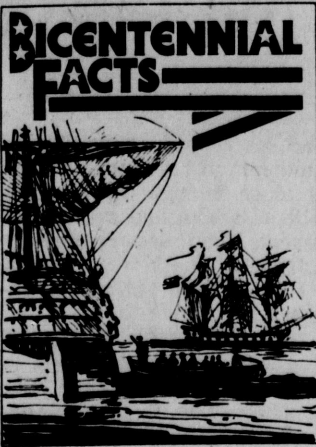

They urged other researchers to do a systematic study of the rural black women to try to determine if infants are affected by DDT concentrations in human milk.

The Nashville research team said many low-income black families in the rural South and Southeast are exposed to environmental factors different from those of other Americans.

On numerous occasions, workers have been seen chopping cotton in fields while the crop was being sprayed or dusted with pesticides from airplanes, they said.

And many of the homes inhabited by these black families are situated in cotton fields that are sprayed, they added, making it possible for food and water in these homes to be contaminated.

BICENTENNIAL FACTS

America's first naval hero was Lambert Wickes, captain of the sloop Reprisal. While carrying a U.S. commercial agent to the West Indies in July, 1777, Wickes captured three British ships and engaged a sloop of war. After taking Ambassador Benjamin Franklin to France, Wickes and the Reprisal cruised the English Channel, much to the annoyance of the royal navy. The Reprisal sailed for America, September 14, 1777, but the ship ran into a gale and was lost with all hands. The World Almanac notes.

Live as free men, yet without using your freedom as a pretext for evil; but live as servants of God. Honor all men. Love the brotherhood. Fear God. Honor the emperor. — I Peter 2:16, 17.

"Freedom is the birthright of man; it belongs to him by right of his humanity, in so far as this consists with every other person's freedom." — Immanuel Kant, German philosopher.

Walnut library receives set of reference books

WALNUT— A bequest to the Walnut Township Memorial Library from Mrs. Cortez (Winifred) Knight has made possible the purchase of the complete bound set of Current Biography, from 1940 to 1975. This is an outstanding reference work and is highly recommended by the Starved Rock Library System for all libraries with the means to acquire it. Mrs. Knight's gift is specifically for the library's reference section.

Other new books at the library are: "The American Story," as told by the Saturday Evening Post, a memorial to Willis Heidenreich from his family, Roberta, Don and Debbie; "The Pittsburgh Steelers," by Julian May, a memorial to Alvin Hasenyager from friends and relatives; "Home Health Handbook," by Stu Copans, a memorial to John Whitver from Urology Association of Nashville, Tenn.

Other new books are "Cliff's Notes on Shakespeare's The Taming of the Shrew," a valuable study aid given to the library by Mary Rhodes; "Benjamin Franklin: A Biography in His Own Words," two volumes, edited by Thomas Fleming; "Raising Poultry the Modern Way," by Leonard S. Mercia; "Livestock and Poultry Production," fourth edition, by Clarence E. Bundy; "Companion Planting for Successful Gardening," by Louise Riotte, and Steven Caney's "Toy Book," which shows how to make more than 50 toys.

Is honesty the best policy?

Dear Ann Landers: I have a friend (we are both girls, age 17) who is a beautiful person, but last week she decided to turn herself into a "completely honest human being." I'm afraid it's going to get her into a lot of trouble.

Yesterday she went up to a rather shy girl and said, "I'm telling you this for your own good. Go on a strict diet and lose 30 pounds." The girl almost cried.

Within the hour she advised a black student to get her Afro shaped. "Your head looks like a bush," she said. "You'd be much more attractive and civilized-looking if you trimmed your hair." Five minutes ago she told a TEACHER she needs to use a deodorant.

All her advice is good and I know she means well but what will this "frankness" do to her relationships? — Don't Know

Dear D.K.: Plenty — and none of it good. Suggest to your well-meaning friend that she cool it.

Unsolicited advice is almost always resented. It can also be interpreted as a personal attack.

I admire the girl's wish to be completely honest, but she should restrict the self-improvement program to herself and leave other people alone.

Dear Ann Landers: For two years I have been engaged to marry a man who is divorced. He has two young children to whom he is devoted.

This past summer I was alone many Sundays while my fiancé went picnicking and attended ball games with his children and the ex-wife. Now he tells me he is planning a week's vacation to Williamsburg with his children and their mother.

When I asked why she was going along, he said, "To share expenses." I told him I did not approve of the arrangement and he replied, "She is the mother of my children. Divorce is tough enough on the kids without adding the problem of parents who are completely estranged."

What do you see ahead? — App-ree-Hensive

Dear Ap: Trouble. And lots of it. Unless you are prepared to spend several weekends and holidays alone, think twice before you marry this man.

I firmly believe divorced parents should be civil to one another and friendly, if possible, but picnics and trips are out of line. If they like each other THAT much, they ought to remarry.

Dear Ann: I'm going with a young woman I've grown quite fond of. She has many fine qualities — the ones I want in a wife — but...

When I inquired about her past she told me she had been in love with a man for two years, had sexual relations with him, and then they went their separate ways. It later turns out there were two others, not love affairs, just sexual encounters. She saw nothing wrong with what she had done, said it was "natural and normal" and that her parents knew and did not disapprove.

My cultural background is quite different. I feel she lacks moral and ethical standards. Should I terminate this relationship or try to be "broad-minded" and concentrate on her positive attributes? — Uncertain

Dear Un: Chop it. Now. Feeling as you do about this woman's past, the chances of a successful marriage are slim. If she smiled at the mailman you'd probably think she was up to something. You would never trust her completely and she'd be forever on the defensive.

Dieting? Try this dessert

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

It is difficult to cling to a diet until it is effective, especially if you have a sweet tooth. If you are dieting by cutting daily caloric intake, include a low calorie dessert on your menu. You can make one from nonfat dry milk, skim milk, egg whites and unflavored gelatin, pineapple juice and apricot nectar that is attractive, refreshing and only about 70 calories per half cup.

PINEAPPLE-APRICOT GELATO

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup nonfat dry milk powder
1 1/2 cups skim milk
1-3rd cup unsweetened pineapple juice
1-3rd cup apricot nectar
2 egg whites

In medium saucepan, mix unflavored gelatin, sugar and nonfat dry milk powder. Stir in milk. Place over low heat. Stir constantly until gelatin dissolves, about 5 minutes. Remove from heat, cool slightly and stir in juices. Pour into freezer tray and freeze until firm.

In large chilled bowl, beat gelatin mixture and egg whites at high speed until smooth and fluffy. Turn into 9 x 5 x 3-inch loaf pan. Return to freezer and freeze. Makes about five and one-half cups. Approximately 70 calories per half cup serving. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Diagnosing plant illnesses

By JANET TARA
(Ninth in a Series)

Unfortunately the symptoms that indicate a plant is suffering from underwatering, overwatering, crowded root conditions, irregular watering or high temperature are very similar. Here are a few tips for trying to diagnose an ailing plant:

Lower leaves turn yellow and fall off. Common in newly acquired plants that are trying to readjust to new surroundings. Check for overwatering, examine roots. Check for crowded root conditions and repot if necessary.

New growth comes in smaller. Greenhouse grown plants are generally in their fullest health and beauty when purchased. Without the same conditions — high humidity, even temperature, perfect light — it is almost impossible for the plant to maintain its former fullness. Check light requirements and be sure to meet fertilizer requirements.

New growth strung out and reaching for the light. Possibly too much fertilizer and/or improper light conditions are forcing the plant to stretch itself toward the light source.

Half or less of the leaf turns dark brown or black. Irregular, improper, or "teasing" pattern of watering — never quite enough for all the soil to get wet. Pay more attention to watering needs of the plant and the type of pot it is in. Plant could be too close to a hot window area where there is no air circulation. Check drafts, overfeeding, sunscorch.

Couple observes 50th anniversary

MR. AND MRS. JOHN J. MEYER

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Meyer, Rt. 2, Forreston, will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary with an open house May 2 from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. at the VFW Hall, Oregon. Friends and relatives are invited.

The former Gladys Morrison and John Meyer were married April 14, 1926. Both lived in Pecatonica before moving to Haldane in 1934.

They are the parents of Miss Ruth Meyer, Springfield, Ill.; Mrs. Ben Walker, Mt. Morris; Joe, Haldane and Russell, Phoenix, Ariz.

They request that gifts be omitted.

Take these healthy goodies along on outdoor expeditions this year

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

Hiking, canoeing and bicycling keep persons of all ages on the move enjoying the fresh outdoors. These hobbies burn up energy and many of their devotees also combine the activities with a back-pack full of healthful goodies. Traveling well for roadside or on-the-go eating are Fudge Saucepan Brownies and Peanut Chewy Bars. These provide energy in an easy-to-carry form.

PEANUT CHEWY BARS
1 cup butter or margarine
3/4 cup firmly packed brown sugar
2 cups unsifted whole wheat flour

1 teaspoon baking powder
1-3rd cup wheat germ

TOPPING:
3 eggs, well beaten
1/4 cup dark corn syrup
1/4 cup flour
1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla
1 1/2 cup chopped oil roasted salted peanuts

In bowl combine butter, brown sugar, flour, baking powder and wheat germ. Mix with the fingers until well blended and crumbly. Press crumbs evenly into a greased 15 x 10 x 1-inch baking pan. In a bowl mix eggs, corn syrup and flour until smooth and well blended. Stir in vanilla and peanuts. Pour mixture over crust in pan and spread evenly. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven for 25 to 30 minutes or until brown and firm to the touch. Cool in pan and then cut into desired shape bars or squares. Makes one pan (15 x 10 x 1 in.).

FUDGE SAUCEPAN BROWNIES

3 (1-ounce) squares unsweetened chocolate
1/2 cup corn oil
3/4 cup light corn syrup
2 eggs
1 1/4 cups sugar
1 cup unsifted flour
1 cup quick oats
2-3rds cup chopped nuts
2 teaspoons vanilla
1 1/4 teaspoons salt

Confectioners' sugar (optional)
Grease 13 x 9 x 2-inch baking pan. Melt chocolate in 2-quart saucepan over low heat. Cool to lukewarm. Stir in corn oil, corn syrup, eggs, sugar, flour, oats, nuts, vanilla and salt until well mixed. Turn into prepared pan. Bake in 350-degree oven about 35 minutes or until a slight imprint remains when top is lightly touched. Sprinkle with confectioners' sugar while still warm. Cut into 48 (1 1/2-inch) squares.

Note: If desired, 2-3rds cup margarine may be substituted for corn oil. Melt margarine with chocolate and reduce salt to 1 teaspoon.

(Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Rhubarb compote

This method helps to keep the rhubarb pieces intact.
1 pound trimmed hothouse rhubarb
3/4 cup light corn syrup
1/4 cup sugar
1/4 cup water

Cut rhubarb crosswise into 1/2-inch pieces — there should be about 3 1/2 cups. Rinse. In a saucepan stir together the corn syrup, sugar and water; cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture boils. Boil 5 minutes or until sugar is dissolved. Add rhubarb to hot syrup; return to full rolling boil. Remove from heat. Cover tightly and let stand for 30 minutes. Serve warm or chilled. Makes about 2 1/2 cups — 5 servings.

LWV luncheon Crawford's bid and play tops

The annual meeting of the League of Women Voters will be held Monday at Emerald Hill. Please note change of date because of Easter holiday. Luncheon (optional) will be served at 12:30 p.m. at $2.75 per person, followed by the meeting at 1:30 p.m.

After the business meeting, Bicentennial slides of Illinois will be shown.

Reservations should be made by Saturday, by calling 284-7086 in Dixon or 625-0509 in Sterling. Sitter service is available at 75 cents per parent. Cancellations must be made before 9 a.m. Monday.

Spoon strawberry preserves over ice cream and add sliced bananas when your youngsters want sundaes.

Frozen Chinese-style pea pods benefit from being cooked, after they are thawed, in a little oil. When prepared this way they stay crispier than when they are cooked in water — as package directions sometimes suggest.

By Oswald and James Jacoby
John Crawford's last major tournament was in Monte Carlo last summer. Playing with Alvin Roth, Matt Granovetter and James Jacoby, he finished second to the World Champion Italian team.

In the methods used by Roth and Crawford the two-club response was forcing to game unless followed by three clubs. Hence, two hearts would have been forcing so that three hearts was a slam try.

Crawford's three-spade bid showed that control. Four diamonds showed second-round control in that suit. Five no-trump was the grand-slam force to ask about trump honors. It was no problem for Roth to jump to the grand slam, since he held both ace and king of trumps.

The play illustrates Crawford's excellent technique. He started by cashing dummy's ace and king of clubs in order to jettison his two losing spades. Then he went after diamonds and was careful enough to ruff the third diamond with one of dummy's high trumps. He decided to return to his hand by ruffing a club. A spade play would have been fatal. Then he ruffed his last diamond with the last high trump, drew trumps and had his grand slam.

Couple exchanges vows

The First United Methodist Church, Dixon, was the setting for the Feb. 29 wedding of Tina M. Black, daughter of Donald W. Frey and Virginia Bowman, Dixon, and David Yates, son of June E. Yates, Dixon.

The bride, given in marriage by James Bowman, wore a light blue floor length dress with a red rose at the center of the bodice. She also wore a rhinestone choker with earrings to match. Officiating clergyman was the Rev. Merle E. Hall, pastor of the First United Methodist Church.

The newly-weds were honored at a reception following the ceremony. Cake was served by Ruth Sarges. Mary Hager served coffee and Frances Bloyd served punch.

Attention! Prospective brides

Because of misunderstanding on wedding pictures, The Telegraph is asking prospective brides to arrange for good black-and-white wedding pictures for use with wedding stories.

Color photographs and black-and-white prints off a color negative are unsatisfactory for good newspaper reproduction.

Rather than be disappointed by having a picture rejected by the newspaper, we are advising brides to insist on a black-and-white picture shot with black-and-white film.

Pot paraphernalia becomes big business

CHICAGO (AP) — Don Levin has fashioned a multimillion-dollar business enterprise out of America's widespread use of an illegal substance.

Levin, a 28-year-old former Marine, is founder and president of Adams Apple Distributing Co., which he says is the nation's largest wholesaler of marijuana paraphernalia and accessories with an annual gross income of $10 million.

His success is due to more than just pot luck.

Eight years ago, Levin was a restless, ambitious graduate of the General Motors Institute for Dealer Management. But he was on the lookout for a business of his own.

He saw a small, dime-store novelty shop for sale and he bought it.

He soon discovered that his hottest item was cigarette papers, used mainly by movie cowboys and a few other advocates of homemade smokes until marijuana use began to snowball.

The few rolling papers Levin had on hand sold out immediately. He bought more. They also sold out. It didn't take Levin long to realize there was a largely untapped market out there, and now he sells some 66 million booklets of rolling papers a year.

"Obviously, the market was there. You just saw it," Levin said. "We had people who came from 50 miles around to buy from us because they couldn't find what they wanted elsewhere."

"It's like Prohibition," he added. "You have a tremendous amount of people that want to do something and you have ancient laws and ancient beliefs preventing them from doing it. They have to change. They can't keep alienating so many people."

After three years of retail sales Levin became a wholesaler.

"The product lines from the companies we bought from were so limited...and the demand was so high," he said. "It was like being the only newspaper in town."

Levin said nothing he sells is necessarily for the use of marijuana and that he's never been hassled by authorities.

"...what people use it for is their own business...And why would the police want to bother us? This is legal, we're not doing anything wrong, we help support a community, we pay good wages," he said.

In short, Levin's is a business like any other, though you wouldn't know it by a visit to the office or a talk with the boss.

Rock music plays in the background, the more than 70 employees wear whatever is comfortable — Levin himself dresses in jeans, boots and a sport shirt — and the atmosphere is informal. The only absolute rule is that no marijuana be smoked on the premises.

"Anybody with dope in here would be fired on the spot," he said. "It would be like having a wino working in a vineyard."

But the casual atmosphere belies the hard work and long hours Levin said he must put in to keep his business where it is.

"I work 60 to 70 hours a week on the average," he said. "I believe in the Horatio Alger approach to work. Somebody once said that success is easy because there's very little competition. I believe that. There are very few people who will work very hard."

When he looks ahead, Levin said he sees only an expanding market.

Smoking marijuana "is a common practice now," he said. "They talk about it on Johnny Carson. People are getting loaded on 'Mary Hartman, Mary Hartman.' It's part of middle America."

Though Levin's claim may be disputed by some, government statistics indicate he is not too far from the truth. The sale of pot paraphernalia and accessories has quadrupled in the last 10 years and now total more than $120 million, with papers alone accounting for more than $50 million in annual retail sales, federal tax records show.

Government estimates put the number of regular users of marijuana in the United States at about 13 million, with yearly sales of the drug — still illegal in every state — totaling almost $4 billion.

Six states have enacted laws which make possession of a small amount a misdemeanor punishable by fine and handled in much the same way as a traffic ticket. Other areas of the country simply do not enforce laws against personal use in private places.

Evidence of marijuana's increasing usage and acceptance can be found in the kinds of stores now selling some of Levin's products, he said.

"We sell to food stores, chains, drug stores, gas stations, department stores; any kind of store you can think of, we sell there," he said.

All of which has helped remove any stigma Levin feels may have been attached to him or his business.

"No, I don't feel guilty at all," he said.

MATCHMAKING is a big thing along Los Angeles' Santa Monica Freeway since introduction of the "Diamond Express Lane," reserved for vehicles with three or more riders. Would-be passengers offer themselves for a slight fee to rider-short drivers.

Agnew novel has something for just about everyone

NEW YORK (AP) — Spiro T. Agnew's much-ballyhoed novel about a future vice president has something for just about everyone: an ambitious politician, a liberal adviser, a beautiful Cabinet officer, Israelis, Arabs, Russians and Chinese.

It is one of those books that seems designed to make people wonder, "Who do you suppose he's really writing about?"

The book jacket describes the writer. "The author, Spiro T. Agnew, lives in Arnold, Maryland, not far in miles from Washington, D.C. He travels the world. He was formerly Vice President of the United States."

The 344-page book, "The Canfield Decision," is being published by Playboy Press. Publication date is May 17, but a Playboy Press spokesman said distribution to bookstores started about 10 days ago. It retails for $8.95.

The Agnew book is the latest in a series of novels by well-known political figures. William F. Buckley Jr. and former New York City Mayor John V. Lindsay also have published novels this year.

The hero of the Agnew novel is Porter Newton Canfield, 48, vice president of the United States in 1983 and a potential presidential candidate in 1984. He is married — unhappily — to a wife named Amy who is more at home in Philadelphia society than in the political atmosphere of Washington. He has an affair with Meredith Lord, secretary of health, education and welfare.

Canfield's machinations and those of the people surrounding him stretch through several countries in a complex plot that is sometimes difficult to keep straight.

Wheat exports may not set a record

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some farm and grain trade experts say there is a good chance that wheat exports this season will not set a record for volume as the government has been saying.

The Agriculture Department initially predicted that wheat shipments overseas for the 1975-76 season, which will end June 30, would total 1.3 billion to 1.4 billion bushels. That would have been up from about 1.04 billion bushels in 1974-75 and more than the record of nearly 1.19 billion bushels exported in 1972-73.

But USDA on March 9 revised its projection downward to a range of 1.275 billion and 1.325 billion bushels, a "mid-point" of about 1.3 billion.

The department will issue another revised forecast on April 23, and some authorities think another cutback in the export estimate will be included. The National Association of Wheat Growers, for example, says what exports this season probably will total 1.15 billion to 1.2 billion bushels.

Although that still would be large — the record until recent years was 867.4 million bushels in the 1965-66 season — a decline in wheat exports of the proportion indicated by the association would mean a sizeable buildup in "carryover" reserves this year and further pressure on prices at the farm.

The main reason for the decline in wheat export predictions is that the Soviet Union has not bought as much as many in the private trade and in USDA thought it would. Sales of U.S. wheat to Russia at the present time have totaled about 161 million bushels since last summer, or about 12.3 per cent of the total wheat USDA officially says will be exported this season.

Department officials still cling to the idea that Russia may buy more U.S. grain in the near future but have indicated that any new wheat sale will probably involve grain from the 1976 crop. Soviet corn purchases have totaled around 370 million bushels since last July. Officials say more corn from the 1975 U.S. crop may be sold to Russia in the coming months.

ROY AND LAVERNE MILLER
LOWELL PARK ROAD — DIXON

A Haitian feast for the voodoo gods

By IRA BERKOW
PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti — (NEA) — The night was ripe for black magic. Rain pelted the car that drove along a main road here through the warm, thick blackness, yellowed faintly by the headlights. Lightning and thunder, necessarily, got into the act. So did the sopping, whipping wind.

At a dirt road deep in the outskirts of this tumbledown town, there was an ill-lit, hand-scribbled sign reading: "Voodoo." The car turned in.

At road's end was a small, one-story stucco structure. Visitors to the voodoo rite pay $5 admission, then step into the open-air rear. One walks along wobbly wooden boards under a tin canopy that thrums with rain. Then the voodoo temple is entered.

The roof is tinny, too, round and with a single pole in the center styled to look like a great snake is wrapped around it. It is from this pole that the spirits enter the ceremony. Naked light bulbs hang and sway from the temple roof.

There is a circular wooden platform situated on a dirt floor. Beyond that are tables with chairs facing the center. Behind that is a light, canvas tarp, flapping, designed to stay the rain.

As intriguing as voodoo may be to the curious or morbid, the bleakness of the night accounted for the small total of five spectators, all Americans.

Voodoo is a religion which combines rites and beliefs of African origin with Roman Catholicism and local Haitian lore. It deals with the basic and eternal questions of creation, death, immortality. It is a popular religion with the masses, 80 to 90 per cent of whom are illiterate.

The idea of voodoo that the uninitiated foreigner entertains is centered around some eerie, primitive black magic.

Sticking pins in a doll fashioned to look like — and to pain — one's enemy, and the drinking of blood from sacrificed animals during a ritual — these are the usual, vague impressions of voodoo.

Some of those notions might have come from legends about the late dictator, Francois "Papa Doc" Duvalier, who claimed to be on first-name acquaintance with the most powerful of the island's voodoo spirits.

It was said that Papa Doc studied goat's entrails for guidance and sought counsel from the gods by sitting in a bathtub with a top hat. It was also said that after an attack by rebels had been overcome, he ordered the head of the opposing general sent to him. He then supposedly had long sessions with the head and eventually learned of the future plans of insurgents.

Papa Doc's son, JeanClaude Duvalier, the "president for life" of Haiti, is not on such close terms with the voodoo gods, but it is widely believed that his father is looking after him.

The voodoo drums began to thump. Five serious young men in bright patterned shirts and red pants that looked thin as crepe sat in chairs beside a table. Three of them beat drums of hollowed logs with goatskin stretched tightly across the tops. One banged a bell. Another cracked two sticks together. The sounds were incessant, rhythmic, hypnotic, loud and long — two hours long.

Candles entered the temple, followed closely by some 40 of the faithful most of whom were women. There was much chanting and dancing, and the atmosphere was reminiscent of the frothing-up of Christian revivals.

The "houngan," or priest, emerges, hops, contorts and moans in unknown tongues in order to summon the local spirits.

Two priests shared the spotlight at different times. The first was a tall, limber man with wide, wide eyes. It wasn't long before he whipped himself into such a frenzy that, as is traditional, he went bucking around the stage as if he were a horse being ridden and spurred. The spirit was entering him and giving him courage to perform the following rites of homage:

He snatched an empty glass from one of the spectators and proceeded to chomp loudly on it and swallow the bites. In a while, he did a barefoot jig on broken pieces of glass strewn in a cardboard box. He then leaped out, whipped himself around, and then grew quite tired. Several of the men carried him out.

The next frenzied priest danced on hot coals in his bare feet, ate a big drumstick of fire. In general, got himself lathered up for the evening's highlight.

A live chicken with flapping wings was brought to him. He stuck the fowl's head in his mouth and bit down. His head shook from side to side the way a dog tears meat from a bone. The chicken's wings fluttered madly. Blood began to drip from the corners of the houngan's mouth. The chicken's wings grew still. The houngan removed the headless chicken, opened his emptied, crimson mouth, and laughed.

One of the American women screamed.

Then he, too, went into a dither and collapsed into the arms of his minions.

The gods — and the tourists — had been served.

Women musicians increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here's the latest statistic for the record book of the women's movement: the number of women instrumentalists in major American symphonies has increased 36 per cent in the past decade.

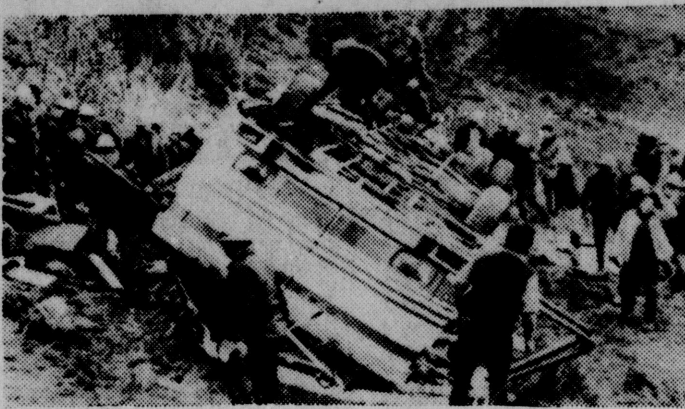

The American Symphony Orchestra League, which came up with that conclusion, also found women concentrated in those orchestras where pay is the lowest.

"Orchestras with the highest budgets, longest seasons and most generous salaries tend to have the fewest women musicians," the study said. "Whether this is a natural reflection of the kinds of work being sought by women, or a factor of the women's movement not yet having influenced long-standing employment patterns cannot be determined without further study."

The league's study classified a major symphony as one with a budget of $1 million or more; a metropolitan orchestra as one with a budget of from $100,000 to $1 million; an urban orchestra has a budget of $50,000 to $100,000; and a community orchestra has a budget below $50,000 yearly.

The study counts more than 6 women now serving in major orchestras as principals or section leaders.

The Doctor Says:

Proponents of bulk in diet see benefits in some cases

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.
DEAR DR. LAMB — I have diverticulosis or pockets of the colon. Eating roughage hurts and cramps my colon with gas, yet I know I must have fibrous foods. On the other hand, I am told not to eat roughage. I do suffer more when I eat raw fruits and vegetables. Could you give me an idea of what to eat for roughage that would not cause discomfort? Is there anything better to take than Metamucil for my condition?

DEAR READER — The proponents of fiber for the diet believe that it will relieve many of the problems in diverticulosis. The idea is that those pockets of the colon are really a complication of a spastic or over contracted colon associated with inadequate bulk in the diet.

good word for the type of food you really need. What you need in your diet is "softage." The best source of bulk in food really is the cereal fiber found in bran or the husk of wheat. This is superior to the amount of fiber you'll get in either fruits or vegetables and since those bother you, you should try cereal fiber.

Among the readily available prepared cereals that you can get from the supermarket to satisfy your problem are Kellogg's All-Bran, Bran Buds and Nabisco Bran. If you will eat one ounce (about one teacup dry measure) of any one of these a day you will get enough "softage" to obtain whatever benefits you might expect from this procedure. In case you don't like any of those, you can use two ounces of Bran Flakes or Raisin Bran. Use two ounces of these a day because they don't contain as much cereal fiber.

Cereal fiber is not roughage. As soon as it is moist, as would happen in the stomach, it swells and becomes soft, not greatly different from the consistency you might see in cooked oatmeal. It won't irritate the digestive tract.

You may have an increased amount of gas during the first three weeks of using these foods. If you have too much, cut down on the amount you are using and gradually increase it. If you do well on this program you can then add other whole wheat products to your dietary plan, including whole wheat bread as opposed to the white flour types. In general try to increase your cereal fiber.

DEAR DR. LAMB — What causes mastoid trouble? When my daughter was about one year old she had it and had an operation. She seems to think it as caused by something I gave her. It bothers me.

DEAR READER — Most mastoid trouble is caused by an infection. That does not mean an infection that your daughter would have gotten from you.

For Thursday, April 22, 1976

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Situations that you take a hand in today should go much to your liking. Just don't let others decide for you where money is involved.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) An influential contact can be of help to you today, but this person will not want others to know of it. Keep silent about what occurs.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You'll learn of something very worthwhile today through a dear friend. Be willing to pass on to others that which was told to you.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) It's best not to talk today about a personal matter regarding someone you love. You may tell far more than you intended.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You may be disappointed by one who is very fond of you. It will not be out of thoughtlessness, but because you'll get your signals crossed.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Your desire to be of service today will be genuine, but if someone makes an unreasonable request you'll let her fend for herself.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Business proposals that surface while socializing today should not be acted upon too hastily. You could be told only what you'd like to hear.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Today you'll be inspired to add little artistic touches around the house. It could turn into a major project.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You're popular today. Others will take your remarks to heart. Thus it's important you don't wound someone with a blunt comment.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Financial conditions will be mixed today, but your gains should exceed your deficits provided you use your reliable common sense.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Early in the day you'll be extremely easy to get along with, but later on trivial issues could get you up tight.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Materially, this could be a fortunate day for you. A source that doesn't usually pay off may provide you with a surprising dividend.

Your Birthday

April 22, 1976

This year you may get an unexpected assist just when it's needed to help you further an ambitious interest. It will occur because you once helped one who is now a key to your plans.

Accused in bogus burglary

A Chateau Estates man was charged Tuesday with disorderly conduct for falsely reporting a burglary.

Paul F. Willstead, 28, Chateau Estates, told Dixon Police that a TV, a harmonica and five knives had been stolen from his trailer. Police believe that Willstead sold his TV at Auction City the previous week.

Willstead was released on bond pending court action.

Bicentennial style show features historic costumes

AMBOY — A dress rehearsal was held Monday for several of the models who will be wearing historic costumes in the Lee County Bicentennial style show to be held at Emerald Hill Country Club, April 29.

Sharon Thompson will model the gold-colored satin, hand-made, fully lined bridal gown of her great-grandmother Flora Apply, bride of Robert Ried in 1880.

Rose Murtaugh models a completely hand made, fully lined, wool challis dress, material imported from London, features a bustle and is worn with a lace shawl from Spain. Elizabeth Lanham wore this for her graduation from Nebraska College in June of 1881 and a few days later for her wedding to Guy Abbott. They then went by covered wagon and homesteaded in Nebraska.

Ellen Bumba models a fully lined gold satin wedding dress worn by Clara Klein when she became bride of Arthur Reinboth in November 9, 1888. Reinboth was an uncle of Mrs. LeRoy June.

Mandana Priebe models her mother's dress worn in 1898. It is hand made, fully lined, has black jet buttons, is brown and black striped satin, has seven gore full skirt. A black lace shawl is her mothers too. Also wears her mothers wedding bracelets and wedding ring, earrings and purse.

Frances Dunphy models her mother's wedding dress. Helen Gianvoni who became bride of Joseph Fanelli in 1919. It is tunic styled and is cream colored Georgette and lined.

Clint Conway models a conductor's uniform worn by the Illinois Central conductors when the trains were running through Amboy. It is 50 years old.

Larry D. Jordan, Creston, was sentenced to 83 days periodic imprisonment after he pleaded guilty to a charge of production of marijuana which stemmed from a 1974 arrest by state police. A 1975 charge of reckless conduct against Jordan was dismissed. Associate Judge Martin D. Hill presided over the Lee County Circuit Court action.

Roger L. Hamilton, Nelson, was fined $250 by Chief Circuit Judge James E. Bales Monday for possession of marijuana. Hamilton, who was arrested by Lee County sheriff's deputies Feb. 6, was also placed on one year probation.

Judge Hill fined Mark A. Beck, 814 Fourth Ave., $35 for illegal possession of liquor as a minor. The charge stemmed from a March 29 incident.

Floyd L. Evans, Rt. 4, was fined $50 for assault. Lee County Sheriff's Deputies arrested Evans April 2 for threatening persons at the Ernest Haws residence, Rt. 4, with a shotgun.

The film, "Becoming Brothers," the story of young boys hardened by a six-month canoe trip through the wilderness—will be shown twice next week at Sauk Valley College, according to Dick Holtam, coordinator of Public Services-Human Services at SVC.

The film showings, which are open to the public free of charge, are scheduled at 7:30 p.m. April 28 in Room 3E12 and at 11 a.m. on April 29 in Room 2C6.

Holtam said the movie details the story of a canoe trip organized by Frederick Ress, director of expeditions of North America, an organization based in Minneapolis. It recounts the adventures of a group of six boys and an adult on a canoe trip through the wilderness of North America.

Services will be Friday, 1:30 p.m., at Preston-Schilling Funeral Home with Rev. Willis E. Dixon, pastor of Open Bible Church, officiating. Graveside services at Memorial Gardens Cemetery, Mt. Vernon, will follow at 2:30 p.m.

Friends may call Thursday afternoon at the funeral home, where the family will be present from 7 to 9 p.m.

Arrested

Lee County Sheriff's deputies arrested a Dixon man on a reckless driving charge Tuesday afternoon. The car of John D. Zeller, 29, 1112 Insitute Blvd., was stopped at the intersection of Ill. 2 and River St. He was released on bond to appear in court May 4.

Fred Hess

Funeral services for Fred Hess, 61, Joliet, who died Monday, have been changed to 9:30 a.m. Thursday at St. Jude Catholic Church, Joliet. A graveside service at Prairieville Cemetery will follow at 12:30 p.m., as originally scheduled.

A youth from the Harmon area has been on suspension from attending classes since March 31 when he allegedly caused a disturbance on a school bus. When he was reprimanded for this, he reportedly threatened the bus driver and Superintendent Dr. Donald Skidmore.

Although the boy and his father had been invited to attend the Tuesday-night hearing, neither appeared. Skidmore reported that the boy had called him on Monday and had requested permission to talk with Skidmore about his suspension.

"I refused," Skidmore said, "but did invite his father to come in for a conference."

"The father seems to feel that it is the boy's problem and the mother's wedding dress. Helen Gianvoni who became bride of Joseph Fanelli in 1919. It is tunic styled and is cream colored Georgette and lined.

Clint Conway models a conductor's uniform worn by the Illinois Central conductors when the trains were running through Amboy. It is 50 years old.

Smith was to report to the Ogle County jail Tuesday afternoon for the court appearance as part of his $15,000 bond agreement.

He is to appear in court to answer charges of armed robbery of a Rochelle super market in January.

Juvenile charged in theft of guns

ROCHELLE — A 15-year-old boy has been charged in connection with the theft of four handguns from the Elzie Cooper residence, 555 South Main St.

The youth and several other juveniles were questioned by Rochelle Police, who recovered one of the missing weapons Tuesday. The other three were located by police early this morning.

Ogle deputies arrest Chana man

ROCHELLE — Francis E. Van Hise, 48, rural Chana, was charged by Ogle County Sheriff's deputies, with taking indecent liberties with a minor. The charge stems from an incident Tuesday, south of Chana.

Van Hise is to appear in court today.

Named in complaint

OREGON — David E. Pauls, 26, of 710 S. Second St., Oregon, was arrested by Ogle County Sheriff's deputies Tuesday, on a charge of criminal damage to property.

Pauls is scheduled to appear in court April 23.

Death elected as head of Oregon School Board

OREGON — Lyle Deuth, one of the two Oregon School Board members who voted against the closing of Chana School, was elected president of the board Tuesday night.

Deuth won the nomination in a secret ballot by a 4-to-3 vote over Gerald Scatterfield. Agnes Bettner was unanimously elected vice president. Bettner is a new board member who campaigned on the promise to re-examine the closing of Chana School. Scatterfield was elected secretary while Bill Herwig was named vice secretary. Bob Etnyre, the other board member who voted against the closing of Chana School, nominated Deuth, while Scatterfield nominated himself for the president's post.

Deuth was ready with an acceptance speech. His new ground rules won immediate approval with the members of the Chana Mother's Club who were present. From now on, Deuth said, all it would take for a citizen to be recognized by the board would be a raised hand instead of having to sign a sheet, the requirement established by outgoing president Frank Svoboda, who did not seek re-election.

In other action the board raised book-rental fees for the next school year. Fees for kindergarten will go from $5 to $10, for first through eighth grade, $12.50 to $16, and for high school, $14.50 to $16. The board learned that 160 book-rental fees have not been paid. Reminders have been sent to parents, but the board said it will take the cases to small claims court if the bills are not paid.

The board approved expenditures of $1,508 for library materials and supplies and $1,011 for metric system teaching materials.

Resignations from Pamela Sutter, learning disabilities teacher at Monroe Center, and Mike McNett, assistant football and middle school wrestling coach, were accepted.

Lyle Deuth, Agnes Bettner and Robert Etnyre were appointed to the negotiation team.

The board voted to sell the minibus for $1,000 and approved issuance of $115,000 in tax anticipation warrants in order to meet upcoming payrolls.

People in the news

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — First Lady Betty Ford tried out for the first time her own, portable Citizens Band radio.

"You got 'First Mama,'" she told nearly any citizens band radio enthusiast willing to talk and tuned to Channel 12 here Tuesday.

Two CB operators who called the First Lady identified themselves as "Starship Enterprise" and "Peg Leg Charlie."

Mrs. Ford spoke in a crisp voice but halted occasionally to consult a list of citizens band radio terms.

She said she picked the handle "First Mama" at the suggestion of comedian Flip Wilson. A "handle" is an identifying name used in CB conversations.

The radio was a gift from her family, arranged by daughter Susan.

Mrs. Ford was in San Antonio campaigning for her husband, who faces Republican challenger Ronald Reagan in the May 1 Texas primary.

Two injured

Two people were taken to KSB Hospital Tuesday night following a two-car accident at the intersection of Apple St. and Bonnie Ave.

The mishap occurred when Marissa Sturgeon, 21, Rock Falls, drove eastbound through a yield sign into the side of another car, driven south by Gladys Turner, 43, 1617 Bonnie Ave.

Sturgeon and Gale Turner, 15, 1617 Bonnie Ave., a passenger in the Turner car, were both treated and released from KSB Hospital.

Seymour Krawitz, spokesman for the production, said he expected Miss Andreas to return by today's matinee performance.

Career night scheduled

Representatives from more than 90 colleges and technical schools will be on hand to meet with local high-school students and other area residents at the ninth annual career and college night being held from 7 to 9 p.m. Thursday at SVC.

Mack Warren, director of admissions at SVC, and Richard Siebs, an SVC counselor, said the purpose of the event is to acquaint area residents interested in more education with colleges, vocational-technical institutes and information about occupational areas.

The event is co-sponsored by members of the guidance staff at 20 area high schools in conjunction with SVC.

Three nabbed in break-in OREGON — Three youths were arrested Tuesday by Ogle County Sheriff's detectives on burglary charges stemming from the April 16 theft of several items from the Anna Green residence, east of Leaf River.

Arrested were Paul G. Galor, 18, rural Egan, Michael H. Molan, 18, Byron, and Robert M. McCloud, 18, Leaf River. The three are to appear in court today.

Most of the stolen items were recovered.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE G-663: Fritz T., aged 20, has a sweetheart dilemma.

"Dr. Crane," he protested, "I am madly in love with a cute coed but she is also being dated by another guy."

"And though I do everything she wishes to please her, she seems to favor my rival."

"Yet he chews her out at times and orders her around as if he owned her."

"So what is wrong?"

"Do women prefer to be bossed? And intimidated at times?"

Hee Seneca

About 950 B.C. King Solomon was also puzzled just like Fritz. For Solomon was smart in the courtroom but didn't understand female psychology, despite his 1,000 wives and concubines.

"I know not," he said, "... the way of a man with a maid." (Proverbs 30:19)

But the Roman philosopher, Seneca, was a keen psychologist, for about 50 A.D. he was approached by a young man who was a twin for Fritz and thus sought advice in how to handle his sweetheart.

"Go to the archer," advised Seneca, "and see how he handles his bow."

"With one hand he pulls it to himself while with the other he pushes it away."

In modern slang, that means "Keep 'em guessing!"

Shakespeare, the greatest psychologist in the Middle Ages, also answered this problem Fritz raises by his famous story of "The Taming of the Shrew."

Girls, as well as boys, while growing up usually expect their male parent to lay down the law occasionally.

In fact, they want some parental dominance, for they subconsciously realize another Biblical precept, namely:

"For whom the Lord loveth, he chasteneth." (Hebrews 12:6)

Many ignored kiddies even engage in what we psychologists call "provocative naughtiness" to force their daddy to paddle them, for they crave his attention and the feel of his hands.

Modern hippies and anti-establishment youth wouldn't be that way if their busy, dominant father

Swedes give hearty welcome to King Gustav

BISHOP HILL, Ill. (AP) — The Swedes who settled in Western Illinois in the 1800s were farm folk, and their descendants have the same worries.

In Bishop Hill Tuesday, while thunderstorms threw cold water on a regal reception for King Carl XVI Gustaf of Sweden, the same exclamation could be heard all over town: "Well, it's a shame it had to rain today, but we sure needed it."

The town got more than an inch of the stuff and the downpour kept the crowd down to about 800 persons.

Those who came remained, however, standing in the rain for 90 minutes or more for a glimpse of the royalty their forefathers left behind.

In Bishop Hill and earlier visits to Augustana College in Rock Island and the Wayne and Forbes Nelson farm in Mercer County, crowds stood in polite awe of the man many of them still refer to as "The King."

The royal party was scheduled to continue its tour of America today with a stop in Detroit.

Bishop Hill, settled in 1846, was the first American settlement by Swedish immigrants.

About 400 followers of "The Prophet" Erik Jansson left Sweden to escape persecution by their rulers.

Their descendants have forgotten all that, however. Today Bishop Hill is a state park dedicated to the memory of the original settlers. It also houses the national archives of the Vasa Order of America, a national association of Swedish-Americans.

The crowd awaiting the 29-year-old king remained patient and excited, though soaked.

Inside a recreated blacksmith shop, 80-year-old Stewart Fahnestrom waited for the king's arrival nonchalantly. "To tell you the truth, I have been kind of looking forward to it; they say he's a real nice fellow," said Fahnestrom, son of Swedish immigrants, blacksmith since age 15 and the sort of fellow who village officials figured the king should meet.

Fahnestrom's outward calm vanished with the coming of the king. "It's quite an honor for a common, ordinary old blacksmith to meet the king," he said in English, forgetting to use the Swedish he'd been practicing.

After the royal party had left, the old man turned away from his forge, his eyes moist and his strong hands shaking. "You know," he said, "I don't have much time left, but this is something I'll remember as long as I live."

Lawrence P. Appell, 65, of Galva, who drove the king about town in his carriage, said he had "been looking forward to this ever since they asked me about three months ago."

Staring gloomily at the steady downpour, fearing the carriage ride would be canceled, he added: "I've just been afraid all this time something would spoil it."

The king made only brief remarks at each stop in his whirlwind tour of western Illinois, presenting gifts of books to dignitaries along the way.

One of the few times he abandoned his very formal, serious posture came at Augustana's student union building, where student president Kevin Pfannes gave him an Augustana jacket with his crest emblazoned on the back.

Smiling broadly, the king responded by saying: "I am not in as good a shape as you, I have not been able to exercise on my visit to America." He then held up his bright blue exercise suit and handed it to Pfannes, who said it would be put on display at the school.

More than 4,000 persons jammed into Augustana's gymnasium to listen to a brief ceremony welcoming the king to the Quad Cities. The school, oldest and largest American college founded by Swedish immigrants, helped organize his visit to Illinois.

So many students jammed into the union to see the king that Conrad Bergendoff, Augustana's president emeritus who had officiated at the gymnasium ceremonies, was left standing outside in the rain.

Pressure move by state

Fund cutoff to Army engineers

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Gov. Daniel Walker has allotted no money next year to pay the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers for operating three major central and Southern Illinois reservoirs, and the corps says some reservoir operations could be cut back.

The state also is considering not paying the $786,000 it was billed for operation of Carlyle Lake, Rend Lake and Lake Shelbyville during the current fiscal year ending June 30, said Leo M. Eisel, director of the state Division of Water Resources.

Eisel said in an interview Monday that the move is a lever to pressure the federal government into paying tens of millions of dollars it owes the state for other services.

The issue is being considered "in the overall context of other payments being owed to the state by the federal government," he said.

Eisel retracted the comment Tuesday after a spokesman for the governor's office denied any intent to pressure federal officials.

The spokesman, Mark Clark, said the federal government owes Illinois $75 million for social services provided by the state. But he said the question of payments to the Corps was "a matter that is under review in itself."

"It's a simple billing review process," said Clark. "You get a bill for something, the state doesn't automatically pay it...Until now there hasn't been a close examination of those billings, and now there is."

The reservoirs provide drinking water, flood control and recreation and are run by the Corps of Engineers. This involves operation of three dams, management of more than 111,000 acres and maintenance of more than 20 recreation areas, said James Petersen, operations chief for the Corps' St. Louis District office.

Eisel said that under open-ended contracts signed in the 1960s the state agreed to pay the Corps for a portion of the operating and maintenance costs for the entire life of the projects.

This year's bills for those payments were sent to the state last February and amounted to more than $786,000, a Corps fiscal official said.

The state's share of operating Carlyle Lake and Lake Shelbyville was less than 10 per cent of the total, but it came to 39 per cent for Rend Lake, the official said.

Petersen said operations and maintenance at the reservoirs will have to be cut back proportionately if the state doesn't pay up. But water provided by the reservoirs will not be cut off, he said.

"I can't see us doing that, that would be an awfully drastic step," he said.

SVC slates science fiction film fest

The Sauk Valley College Film Commission will present a science-fiction film-fest Saturday at 7:30 p.m. in the Little Theatre. Featured will be "Forbidden Planet" and "Last Days of Man on Earth."

"Forbidden Planet" is a 1956 film classic which featured the first robot, "Robbie," made for film. Although dated by strained self-conscious acting, the film is rich in special effects which support an unusual plot: a spaceship crew confronts monsters from the id on Altair-4.

"The Last Days of Man on Earth" is a 1975 British film based on Michael Moorcock's novel, "The Final Programmer." The movie takes place, like "Clockwork Orange," in an indeterminate future. All values are gone as we follow the "hero," Jerry Cornelius, whose diet consists of whiskey and candy bars. The future of mankind lies in the hands of Jerry and a female computer programmer as they attempt to create a new Messiah.

"Forbidden Planet" is rated "G" and "Last Days of Man on Earth" is rated "R."

SVC students will be charged 50 cents, and non-students will be charged $1.

Amboyman cited

Dixon Police charged an Amboy youth with driving too fast for conditions following a one-car accident Tuesday night.

Robert McKnight, 16, Amboy, was southbound on Fourth Avenue but misjudged a left turn onto Ferris Street, police said. His car overshot the turn and struck a fire hydrant on the corner.

No injuries were reported.

Ticketed

Dixon Police charged Carol A. Maas, 35, Rt. 2, with failure to reduce speed to avoid an accident Tuesday morning.

Maas was following a pickup truck driven southbound on Galena Avenue by Walter F. Klein, 77, 95 Shady Lane Drive. When Klein stopped to make a left turn his truck was struck in the rear by the Maas car.

Mini-concert

Musician and guitarist Bob Hardy will be performing for Sauk Valley College students in the SVC Cafeteria during the lunch hour on Thursday, April 29.

Claire Buschmann, student activities counselor, said the Minnesota performer will be appearing from 11:30 a.m. until 1:30 p.m. Hardy's repertoire includes many songs which he has written himself.

Buschmann said the young entertainer has recently appeared and been well received at a number of other community colleges and universities in Illinois.

Cycle safety program to cost taxpayers $424,000

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — State transportation officials say they plan a motorcycle safety program which will cost taxpayers an estimated $424,000 during the next fiscal year.

Goals of the program, which was announced Tuesday, are to reduce motorcycle accidents by 20 per cent in two years, to provide training and instruction for beginning cyclists, to encourage riders to wear helmets and to educate other motorists to the problems of cyclists.

"We are proposing this program as an alternative to a mandatory helmet law," said Karsten Vieg, the safety division chief in the state Department of Transportation.

"Motorcycle helmets are effective preventing and reducing certain injuries and a strong element of this program is to encourage riders to wear helmets. However, helmets do nothing to prevent accidents," he said.

He said the department hopes to use the state's educational television network to broadcast classroom training for beginning riders and provide videotaped instruction for use by local civic groups. Regular classroom courses will be conducted by volunteers certified by the Motorcycle Safety Foundation, and graduates of the courses may qualify for reduced insurance premiums.

Illinois was in danger last year of losing up to $24 million in road construction and highway safety money because it didn't have a mandatory helmet law.

Federal highway safety regulations had called for all states to adopt one but officials in Illinois and California challenged the regulation.

Congress subsequently removed the mandatory helmet provision from the Federal Aid Highway Act.

Illinois had a mandatory helmet law on the books which was struck down in 1969 by the state Supreme Court as an unconstitutional infringement on personal liberty.

Vieg said there has been a 700 per cent increase in registered motorcyclists in Illinois since 1970, to 270,000 currently.

Egan man in serious condition

OREGON—A rural Egan man was in serious condition today in the intensive care unit of St. Anthony's Hospital as the result of injuries received in a two-car accident Tuesday afternoon.

Ogle County Sheriff's deputies said that Steven N. Lancaster, 25, rural Leaf River, was eastbound on Ill 72, four miles west of Byron, when he attempted a left turn onto Stone School Road. His vehicle was struck in the left front by a car driven by Robert Simpson, 25, rural Egan, which was attempting to pass the Lancaster vehicle.

Simpson was taken by Byron ambulance to St. Anthony's Hospital.

Damage to the Lancaster vehicle was estimated at $500, while damage to the Simpson vehicle was estimated at $3,000.

A dirty air conditioner has to work harder. That wastes money.

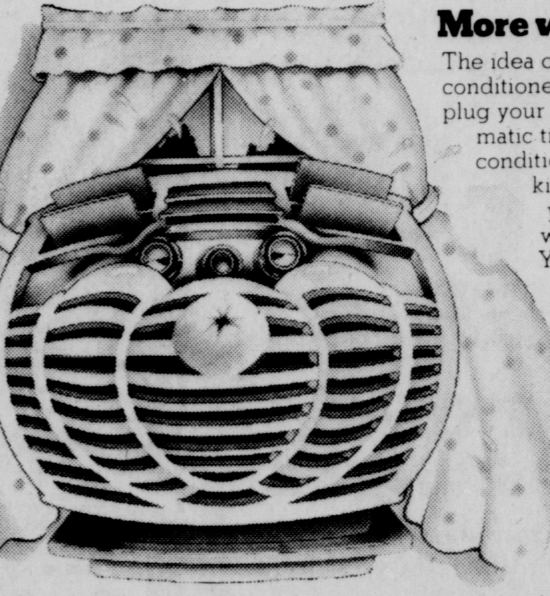

When your air conditioner is dirty, it has to work harder. That takes more energy. And you end up wasting money. A good periodic cleaning will make your air conditioner more efficient, and will help you save on its operating costs. It's possible to clean most window units in only about 10 minutes. You should check your owner's manual for specific cleaning and maintenance instructions, but in most cases the steps to follow in cleaning are very simple. And the more thoroughly you clean, the more money you'll save.

Vacuum the filter and save a little.

First pull the plug. Then take off the front panel, and carefully remove the filter. You can vacuum it while it's still in place, but it's easier to clean the filter well if you remove it first.

Wash the filter and save a little more.

Your owner's manual will tell you whether the filter in your air conditioner is the kind that can be washed and reused. If it is, you can get the filter even cleaner by first vacuuming it, and then hand washing it in warm water and a gentle detergent. The type of soap recommended for washing woollens is best suited to this job

Save on central air.

If you've got central air conditioning in your home, there are several steps you can take to keep your central air system running efficiently. Remember to clean or replace your furnace filters regularly. Clear away any debris from around the outdoor unit. And keep grass and shrubs trimmed back to 12 inches away from any working parts.

A call for help may help you save.

If you've had your air conditioner for several years and have never cleaned it before, it could take a qualified serviceman to perform the kind of maintenance and repairs that may be necessary. In an older unit the condenser coil, refrigerant charge, and motor parts may need expert attention.

More ways to save.

The idea of using timers on air conditioners is catching on. You can plug your window unit into an automatic timer made especially for air conditioners. It works just like the kind of timer you'd use to turn your lights on automatically when you're away from home. You can set the timer so that your air conditioner comes on an hour or so before you get home from work on a hot summer day. That way your house will be comfortable when you arrive, but you'll be using less electricity. And your air conditioner won't be running all day long.

There's one last thing you should remember about air conditioners, especially if you're thinking about buying a new one.

Air conditioner efficiency varies from model to model, depending on what we call the Energy Efficiency Ratio, or EER. The higher the EER, the more cooling you get for your electric dollar, year after year. It's easy to figure out the EER. Attached to every air conditioner is a metal plate showing that machine's watts and BTUs. To get the EER, just divide the watts into the BTUs. We recommend an EER of 8 or more.

The more efficiently you use energy, the less energy you waste, and the more money you save. And an efficient air conditioner can save you plenty.

DETROIT (AP) — King Carl XVI Gustaf of Sweden, a car buff, plans to visit the Ford Motor Co. River Rouge plant assembly line today and lunch with the chairmen of all four major U.S. auto companies.

The king, in the United States on a Bicentennial visit, will tour a car assembly line with Henry Ford II as his guide. The luncheon at the Detroit Athletic Club also will have Gov. William Milliken and Detroit Mayor Coleman Young in attendance.

The king, 29, is scheduled to be in Detroit for a two-day visit before flying to Houston on Thursday.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dwight Chapin, former appointments secretary to President Richard Nixon, celebrated his release from prison by throwing a cocktail party in Washington's fashionable Georgetown neighborhood.

He spent eight months in a federal minimum security penitentiary after his conviction on charges of lying to a federal grand jury.

The party was hosted Monday night by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cashen. Cashen, a former White House aide to confessed Watergate conspirator Charles Colson, is now a partner in Colson's old law firm, Colson and Shapiro.

Among those at the garden gathering were Colson, who was special counsel to Nixon; Richard Moore, also a counsel to Nixon; Patrick Buchanan, a conservative columnist who was a Nixon speechwriter; Time magazine White House correspondent Dean Fischer; and Anthony Stout, publisher of the Washington-based weekly, the National Journal.

ATLANTA (AP) — Ten miles of downtown Atlanta streets have been renamed in honor of the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., despite efforts by merchants to block the move.

The Atlanta City Council voted Monday to rename three connecting streets Martin Luther King Jr. Drive.

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — Secretary of Defense Donald Rumsfeld piloted the Air Force B1 supersonic bomber during a test flight here and then predicted that Congress will pass a controversial $1.5-billion budget request for the project.

Rumsfeld, a former Navy pilot with extensive experience in high performance aircraft, was at the controls for 50 of the 63 minutes of the flight Monday, held to demonstrate the B1's mission flexibility.

ATHENS, Ala. (AP) — Ill-dean Tribble got to the church on time but entertainer Elvis Presley never showed up. Now the 44-year-old widow with four adult children says she was the victim of a hoax.

Mrs. Tribble said she received telephone calls and met several times "with some person I thought was him."

"If Mr. Presley says it wasn't him, it had to be someone pretending to be him," she said in an interview after her wedding preparations fell through Saturday. She later went into seclusion.

FORCED TO MOVE—Dr. Alfred Nadler examines Carrie Alexander at his office in Liberty City, an area of Miami, Fla., that was the center of the 1968 riots. Dr. Nadler has to move because the city is building a park. His patients have started a petition protesting his impending move. (AP Wirephoto)

Still no trace of Hughes' will

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Hollywood bank safe deposit box maintained by Howard Hughes yielded some jewelry but further stymied those looking for the late billionaire's will, a source knowledgeable about the search says.

A source close to the Summa Corp. said Monday that officials didn't find the will Hughes associates insist he wrote and that some have said he put under lock at the South Hollywood Branch of the Bank of America.

The box held only some "not extremely valuable jewelry," the source said.

Summa runs Hughes' far-flung entertainment and aerospace enterprises. Some of the people who were closest to Hughes hold key positions in the corporation.

A former top Hughes aide, Noah Dietrich, said last week that the billionaire made a will and placed it in a box at the South Hollywood bank about two years before Dietrich left the organization in 1957.

Dietrich, Gregson Bautzer, a former Hughes attorney and a spokesman for Summa, restated their belief Monday that a will exists — somewhere. Investigators are poring over files in Los Angeles and elsewhere for clues to where Hughes left the document telling where he wanted his more than $2 billion in assets distributed after his death, a source told The Associated Press.

Several people have said Hughes indicated he wanted the bulk of his estate turned over to the Hughes Medical Institute in Miami, but so far there has been no legal confirmation of that wish.

Arelo Sederberg, a Summa spokesman, said, "There is a continuing search for a will (but) for legal reasons we're not disclosing how the search is being done."

"We're only saying we think there is a will."

If no will is found, officials have estimated that as much as two-thirds of the estate automatically will revert to government bodies as taxes.

Bautzer, a Los Angeles attorney who did legal work for Hughes for 25 years, confirmed that the box at the South Hollywood branch of the Bank of America had been opened.

Investment clubs proving boon to some

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — In 1941 a Detroit man began depositing $10 to $20 a month in an investment club. By February of this year he had invested $7,800, withdrawn more than $30,000, and still had an account worth more than $59,000.

The club, the Mutual Investment Club, was one of the four founding units of the National Association of Investment Clubs, now more than 7,000 strong, averaging about 12 members each, all regular investors for the long term. Even though most club members are amateurs, they often beat the pros over long and short periods. One club, made up of post office workers, reported a gain of 212 per cent from October 1974 to December 1975. That report encouraged the association, based in Royal Oak, Mich., to take a random sample of gains by about 40 clubs through February. It found the average gain since December 1974, the worst of the bear market, to be 69.9 per cent.

The Dow Jones industrial average during that time gained 59.9 per cent, 10 per cent less than the average club. Sixty-four per cent of the clubs in the sample did better than the average.

For the clubs that stuck it out through the recession, despite declines in value month after month, these results are satisfying and reassuring, but not totally unanticipated.

Although their nerves did quiver, club members were sustained by their faith that over a long period of time their investment philosophy averages out to a gain.

Many clubs did drop out, however. At one time in 1973 the association had 14,100 member units, but that number went down with the averages. Some clubs folded, and others simply ceased to remain members of the association.

Now the trend is about to be reversed. Inquiries are up sharply, and the criterion of history suggests inquiries are followed by applications. Individual clubs also report they are adding to their memberships.

Thomas O'Hara, chairman, recalls that in the fall of 1973, when the fear and despair were thick, the sturdiest of clubs continued to believe stocks were a bargain. They were willing to wait.

Now, said O'Hara, who belongs to the Mutual Investment Club, "We feel that the really big movement in the market is in the two to five years ahead."

With theories, concepts and systems as common in the investment world as they are at the race track, member clubs follow deceptively simple principles to help them achieve their results.

—They invest regularly, usually at monthly intervals, over a long period of time. They do not try to guess whether the market is in an upward or downward trend. Through the worst of times, they continue to invest.

—They keep fully invested in order to put to work for them the principle of compounding. They don't maintain big cash positions. And they reinvest dividends.

—They endeavor to invest in companies whose sales and earnings per share are moving ahead faster than the general economy.

While this seems to be a conservative philosophy, it really isn't. Ask any club that stuck to it during the dark days of the market. "It gives you a pretty aggressive account," said O'Hara.

He explained: "Investing a set sum of money each month has a wonderful mathematical effect. As stock prices decline, that set amount buys a larger and larger number of shares of stock. "Once stock prices turn around, a price increase applied to the larger number of shares helps increase values rapidly. Long before stock prices reach their former highs, the investors find the value of their accounts exceed their investments."

Next: Forming and operating a club.

We want to extend Thanks to all those who supported us recently with their prayers and words of encouragement. A special thanks to those who spent many hours in attendance at the hearing.

Today in History

By The Associated Press
Today is Wednesday, April 21, the 112th day of 1976. There are 254 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 753 B.C., tradition has it, Rome was founded by Romulus.

On this date: In 1509, Henry VIII became King of England on the death of Henry VII.

In 1832, the Black Hawk Indian War began along the upper Mississippi.

In 1836, Texans led by General Sam Houston defeated a Mexican force in the Battle of San Jacinto in eastern Texas.

In 1898, the United States recognized the independence of Cuba.

In 1954, U.S. Air Force planes began flying French troops from France to Indochina to bolster the French bastion at Dien Bien Phu.

In 1965, a disarmament commission of 114 nations resumed talks in New York after a five-year interval.

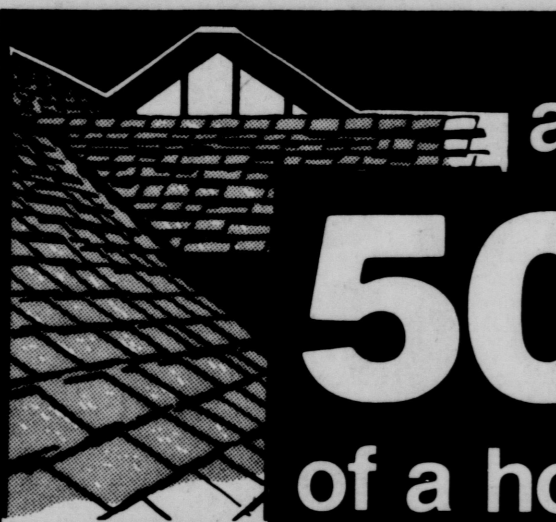

In 1967, the Greek army seized control of the government in Athens and set up military rule in Greece.

Ten years ago: Surgeons in Houston made the first implant of an artificial heart in a human.

Five years ago: President Richard Nixon asked Congress to provide $3.3 billion in foreign aid in fiscal 1972.

One year ago: South Vietnam's President Nguyen Van Thieu resigned, denounced the United States as untrustworthy and named a successor to seek negotiations with Communist forces sweeping across the country.

Today's birthdays: Queen Elizabeth of Britain is 50. Actor Anthony Quinn is 61.

White Sleeves lose 5-4 to Martin and the Yankees

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
AP Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees defeated the Chicago White Sox 5-4 Tuesday. Yes, the White Sox.
The White Sox used to be known as the White Sox before Mary Frances, Mrs. Bill Veeck, wife of the Chicago owner, went to work on their uniforms and riled the Yankees no end, from owner George Steinbrenner down through Manager Billy Martin. Even the players got into the act.
For their first appearance of the season in New York, the White Sox wore navy blue uniforms with 1890s lettering. Their sox were white with a couple of blue stripes and their caps were white with a blue bill.
But it was their undergarments that raised the Yankees' hackles and pushed the strong relief pitching of New York's Tippy Martinez, Dick Tidrow and Sparky Lyle and Chicago's Clay Carroll into the background. Underneath their spanking new blue blouses — stylishly worn outside their pants — the Chicagoans had on white undershirts with horrors-white sleeves.
"It was like stepping into a coliseum," said umpire Marty Springstead. "I didn't know what all the yelling was about."
Martin soon let him in on a couple of grievances.
First, could the Yankees pull their shirts out in key situations and perhaps get gently nicked by a pitched ball?

"I told him if he wanted the shirts out, let him design uniforms like theirs," related Springstead.
Secondly, Martin claimed one of his players said the white baseball coming out of the white undersleeves posed a danger to the hitters.
Springstead found a rule stating, "No part of a uniform shall include a pattern that imitates or suggests the shape of a baseball." Since baseballs are white, he told the White Sox their pitchers could not wear . . . well . . . white sleeves.
Martin said the incident "is gonna open a whole new can of worms. We're buying white shirts right away and we're gonna use them only against the White Sox."
"Carroll was so effective six innings, no runs, three hits that maybe I should have let him wear the white sleeves. And, hey, put down that I like Bill Veeck."
By the time Carroll arrived, though, the Yankees had scored three times in the second inning with Lou Liniella's double driving in one run and setting up two more. After the White Sox chased Dock Ellis in a four-run third that included Pat Kelly's homer and Jim Spencer's two-run double, the Yanks won it with two in the bottom of the inning on singles by Roy White, Thurman Munson and Chris Chambliss, with both White and Munson stealing second.

Actions speak louder than words Ryan blanks the Orioles

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer
Nolan Ryan's actions speak louder than his words.
To listen to the California Angels' charismatic pitcher, you'd think he's really having his problems.
"I'm still fighting my rhythm and my delivery," he said in the Angels dressing room at Anaheim Stadium Tuesday night. "Maybe I need more work, maybe it's the five-man rotation we have . . . I'm just not in the proper groove."
Sounds like he'd just been knocked from the box by a barrage of home runs, right?
Actually, the hard-throwing right-hander had just blanked the Baltimore Orioles on three hits, pitching the Angels to a 5-0 victory. What's more, he struck out 12 batters, the 72nd time in his brilliant career he's fanned 10 or more but the first time since June 14, 1975.

Ryan, 2-1, has allowed eight hits in 25 innings this season. He stopped Kansas City on four hits last week, after losing his first start of the season against Oakland even though he only allowed one hit in the seven innings he worked.
Bill Melton drove in three runs with a double and a single to back Ryan's 24th Career shutout, and Dave Chalk added three hits.
Melton singled home one run in the sixth and doubled in two more in the seventh, bringing his season RBI total to 10. Sacrifice flies by Chalk and Jerry Remy accounted for the other Angels runs.
Red Sox 12, Twins 3
The Red Sox, held to six home runs in their first nine games, raked Twins pitchers for four homers Tuesday night. Dwight Evans drove in four runs with a homer and a double, while Jim Rice, Carl Yastrzemski and Carlton Fisk also homered.
Indians 9, Rangers 1
Gaylord Perry returned to Cleveland, only to be routed in a seven-run seventh inning and tagged with the loss. Alan Ashby's two-run single and Frank Duffy's two-run double highlighted the burst, though both came off relievers who followed Perry, traded by the Indians last June.
Brewers 5, Royals 4
Pedro Garcia drove in two runs and scored twice to pace the Milwaukee attack in a game twice delayed by rain, for a total of one hour 22 minutes.
Pete Broberg checked the Royals on two hits through five innings, then Billy Champion and Ed Rodriguez preserved the victory.
A's 6, Tigers 5
Don Baylor, obtained from Baltimore in the controversial Reggie Jackson trade, singled home Claudell Washington to cap a three-run rally in the ninth that lifted Oakland to victory. Joe Rudi had tied the game with a two-run single.

National League
New York batters hit the St. Louis pitchers hard Tuesday night—almost as hard as Cardinals pitcher Lynn McGlothen hit two Mets batters and nearly sparked a brawl.
The hitting by the hitters took place in the first two innings, when Felix Millan, Del Unser and John Milner each slugged two-run homers to help New York carry a 6-0 lead into the third inning. That's when McGlothen started hitting the batters.
"I'm a big league pitcher and I want to be around a while," said McGlothen, who hit Unser and opposing pitcher Jon Matlack in the third, causing a charge from the Mets dugout led by slugger Dave Kingman.
McGlothen, who was ejected for his tactics, continued to defend his action. "I just think a pitcher has a right to try to contain the hitters. If a pitcher feels like he's been intimidated, he has to do something. I hit them as a certain measure that had to be done."
Cardinals Manager Red Schoendienst, who along with New York shortstop Bud Harrelson was ejected from the game in the third inning, managed a light comment.
"Mac McGlothen was wild all night. I'm surprised he hit anybody if he was trying," said Schoendienst.
Phillies 5, Pirates 1
Mike Schmidt, who is "fun to watch when you're on his side," according to teammate Jim Kaat, cracked his sixth home run in three games to tie six other players for the major league record and lead the Phils past the Pirates.
Kaat pitched a six-hitter in one hour, 47 minutes and hit a two-run double—"My first hit in three years—to help Philadelphia.
Padres 7, Reds 5
Pinch-hitter Jerry Turner's bases-loaded single keyed a three-run San Diego rally in the eighth inning as the Padres handed Cincinnati its fourth defeat in five games.

The Reds were trailing 4-0 and held hitless by Bill Greif until the fifth, but scored five times in the seventh to take the lead.
Butch Metzger, 1-0, got the victory in relief and combined with Greif, Mike Dupree and Dave Tomlin to snap a 22-game hitting streak by Pete Rose.
Giants 12, Braves 11
Gary Matthews hit two home runs—his second winning the game in the 10th inning—two singles, scored four runs and drove in three to lift the Giants past the Braves.
San Francisco trailed 8-1 at one point.
Dodgers 6, Astros 3
Los Angeles pinch-hitter Ed Goodson drove in Ron Cey in the sixth inning for the run that beat Houston.

Grunwald signs with Indiana

CHICAGO (AP) — East Leyden High School basketball standout Glen Grunwald says he will enroll at Indiana University next fall.
The 6-9, four-time all-stater said he had been worried about making up his mind too fast and not making the right decision.
"I'd like to go to Indiana and I'd like to go to North Carolina," said Grunwald. "But I chose Indiana because it's closer to home and I'd like to play in the Big Ten, too."

Warriors triumph

By JOHN NELSON
AP Sports Writer
When Detroit Coach Herb Brown was asked if there was any one area in which his team was weakest, he answered: "Yeah, basketball."
But, the Golden State Warriors can make almost any opposing coach feel that way. The defending National Basketball Association champions opened their quarter-final series against Detroit Tuesday night with a 127-103 victory. Phil Smith scored 26 points.
"We were horrible," Brown said. "The Warriors played well. They can just break you down, and I'm sure that contributed some to our being horrible."
Rick Barry was held to 13 points but he tied his season high for assists, handing out 11.
In the night's only other play-off game, the Phoenix Suns took a 3-1 lead in their quarter-final series against Seattle, beating the SuperSonics 130-114. The Warriors-Pistons series continues in Oakland Thursday night, and Phoenix travels to Seattle for Game 5 Sunday.
Tonight, the Boston Celtics, after drawing a bye through the first round, begin their quarter-final series against the Buffalo Braves, and the Cleveland Cavaliers take a 2-1 lead in their best-of-seven quarter-final series into Washington.
The Warriors, who drew a first-round bye and have not played in 10 days, showed early signs of rustiness, falling behind 18-12. But they outscored the Pistons 12-0 to move ahead for good, taking a 65-51 half-time lead.
In Phoenix' victory, Paul Westphal tied his season-high point production with 39, and Keith Erickson added 31 points.

Seattle's Fred Brown was held to eight points in the first half but led a third-quarter surge that brought Seattle within five points. He wound up with a team-high 33 points.
Boston Coach Tom Heinsohn is worried about the Celtics' long layoff. "We're ready physically," says Heinsohn, "but I don't know how sharp we'll be after such a long layoff 10 days."
Meanwhile, Buffalo Coach Jack Ramsay, whose Braves reached the quarter-finals by beating Philadelphia, says his team is both physically and mentally sound.
Washington Coach K.C. Jones will have to find a remedy for the poor shooting of Elvin Hayes and Phil Chenier if he hopes to even up his team's series with Cleveland.

Sport Notes

Hahn wins title

Sterling— Junior tennis advocate Jenny Hahn of Sterling fought bravely to defeat Tracy Stern of Springfield in three sets in the finals of Westwood's Girls 16 and under United States Tennis Association Tournament here last weekend. Jenny won the first set 6-3 but could not put up with Tracy's groundstroke game and lost 1-6 in the second set. In the Galesburg Tournament last summer Tracy had beaten Jenny in two sets in the semi's and the third set had both girls giving 100 per cent. Using a strategy of short low-bouncing shots, Jenny captured the third set 6-1. This was Hahn's first tournament win in the girls 16-and-under and she considered it an excellent start for 1976.
In the girls 14-and-under, Claudia Brisk of Skokie played her unemotional, cool tennis and defeated Kate Gompert of Peoria (second seed) in the finals 6-2 and 6-1. Claudia, the number-one seed and one of Chicago's stronger 14-and-under players, dominated the tournament. Sterling's Kelly Grummert made it to the semi-finals where she was defeated by Kate Gompert 6-1 and 6-1.
The consolation tournament was a combination of first-round losers in both tournaments and Jan Nash of Wheaton, ranked 14th in Chicago in the girls 14's last year, defeated Sterling's Amy Eshlemen in the finals 7-6 and 6-0. Amy played a strong tournament and defeated Julie Barker of Oshkosh, Wis., 7-5 and 6-3 in the semi-finals. Julie was ranked number seven in the girls 14's last year in Wisconsin.

Softball tournament

The second annual Eberley's Memorial Day slo-pitch softball tournament will be held May 29-31. Entry fee is $65 for 24 teams. First place is worth $400, second $200, third $100 and fourth $65 with each of the four top teams also receiving a trophy. Contact Mike Eberley (625-6136) or Greg Dykema (625-5833) for further details on the Class "B" tournament. Deadline for entry is May 25.

Basketball School

STERLING— Lee Fredrick's One-on-One Basketball School will be held at the Westwood Sports Complex, here, June 7-11. Sessions will be held for 8- to 13-year-old boys, 9-17 girls and 14-18 boys. For more information, write One-on-One Basketball School, 1308 W. Calhoun, Macomb, Ill. 61455.

Golf tournament

ROCK FALLS— The 10th annual Rock River Invitational Golf tournament will be held at the Rock River Country Club, here, June 5-6. The tournament is open to amateur golfers. For more information, write Paul Attard, Rock River Country Club, Dixon Road, R.R. 2, Rock Falls, Ill. 61071.

Mt. Morris Invitational

MT. MORRIS— Seven schools representing four conferences in northern Illinois will compete in the Mt. Morris Invitational Track and Field Meet here Saturday.
Entered are Harvard and South Beloit of the Shark Conference, Lena-Winslow and Stockton of the Northwestern, Genoa-Kingston of the Little Eight, and Stillman Valley and Mt. Morris of the Mid-Northern.
The activities will get underway at 1 p.m. with an hour of field events. At 2 p.m., preliminaries in the running events will start, and at 3 p.m. finals in all events will be called. The meet will follow the IHSAA schedule of events.
A tight battle for the team trophy is in prospect because the field of Class A schools is well balanced. Stillman Valley, with outstanding performers in the sprints, distance events, and shot put and discus, is considered a strong contender for honors but should be challenged all the way.
This will be only the second Mt. Morris Invitational and will mark the home debut of new Mt. Morris coach Jerry Allison. The first Invitational was held with six schools competing in 1974. An eight-team lineup was ready last spring, but the meet was called off because of heavy rains.

50th birthday today for Britain's Queen Elizabeth

By JAMES R. PEIPERT
Associated Press Writer
LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II observes her 50th birthday Wednesday after a 24-year reign that began with hopes for a second glorious Elizabeth Age but has been downhill all the way for Britain.

When George VI died on Feb. 6, 1952, and his older daughter became queen while on a visit to Africa, Britain was Western Europe's leading nation, the pound sterling was one of the world's most stable currencies, there were 100,000 British soldiers in the Suez Canal Zone, and British air and naval bases stretched to Hong Kong.

Today as the queen prepares for a quiet family birthday at Windsor Castle, Britain's wealth and power are sharply diminished, its empire dismembered, its economy in disarray.

"Future historians will have little choice but to dismiss this period of our national life as one of unrelieved failure," the weekly New Statesman said recently. But it added: "The monarchy still appears a stable feature of our national life; perhaps the only thing that is."

The 19th century constitutional expert Walter Bagehot once commented that only three rights remained to the monarch: "the right to be consulted, the right to encourage, the right to warn."

But "after 24 years on the throne, the queen is the only person in Westminster and Whitehall who has followed, at the very highest level, the process of top-level decision-making going back over a whole generation," Paul Johnson, former editor of the New Statesman, wrote in the Daily Express.

"She has outlasted five British prime ministers, four U.S. presidents, three changes of regime in Russia, four German chancellors, two popes, and countless French and Italian governments — to say nothing of such venerable fixtures as De Gaulle, Franco, Chiang Kai-shek and Haile Selassie."

"Only Mao Tse-tung and Marshal Tito can claim greater continuity at the top, and they are in their 80s."

Public criticisms of the queen are confined almost entirely "to the marginal aspects of her existence — her dress-sense, her voice, her ferocious small dogs — and testify merely to the poverty of the material that can be amassed against her personally," the New Statesman said.

Scottish Laborite Willie Hamilton never lets up in his campaign to abolish the monarchy, which he attacks as an expensive, useless anachronism. But in his anti-royalty book last year, "My Queen and I," he said he had never said "a cruel or critical word" against Queen Elizabeth personally.

Most Britons view the royal establishment with quiet pride.

"She's good value for money, she is," one young Londoner said.

Millions still follow the unfolding royal story as if it was their favorite soap opera. The queen and her family are still persistent headline-makers in Britain and among the country's biggest crowd pullers. Thousands throng the Mall and Whitehall every year for the queen's coach ride in October to open Parliament and the Trooping of the Color for the official celebration of her birthday in June, when the weather is most likely to be good.

The queen's oldest son and heir, Prince Charles, has matured into a serious, 27-year-old man with all the attributes Britons look for in a monarch — good looks, a sense of humor, tact, a quick mind and a talent for making people feel at ease. This has prompted some speculation that his mother may abdicate some day in his favor. But despite the prince's popularity, most Britons would probably not favor the change for many years to come.

The queen has been less lucky in her younger sister, Princess Margaret, who has presented her with the two biggest personal crises of her reign. One was Margaret's romance with a divorced man, Group Capt. Peter Townsend, in 1955. The other was her separation this year from her husband, the Earl of Snowdon.

Because the queen is the titular head of the Church of England and the church frowns on divorce, Margaret renounced Townsend after weeks of family anguish and a fever of public speculation. And though the change in public attitudes in 20 years was reflected by the open acknowledgment that Margaret's marriage had broken down, tradition was maintained by the queen's decision to approve a separation but not a divorce.
